The Democrats Chuckle.

A RETALIATORY AMENDMENT.

Philadelphia Commissions.

[Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, March 15, 1871.

SENATE.

SOUTHWEST PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD.

The bill from the House, incorporating the Pennsylvania and West Virginia Railroad Company, from Greensburg via Uniontown to West Virginia, was called up by Mr. Purman and passed finally, with its corporate name changed to the Southwest Pennsylvania Railroad.

THE BITUMINOUS COAL BILL,

after discussion, was referred back to the Committee, with instructions to report a satisfactory amendment, the disposition of the Senate to-day being decidedly against the bill.

HOUSE.

IMPORTATION OF COOLIES.

Mr. THOMPSON called up his resolution urging Congress to pass laws preventing the importation of Coolies. Passed.

A CROW FROM THE DEMOCRATS.

Mr. SKINNER (Democrat,) offered a resolution hailing with satisfaction the Democratic triumph in New Hampshire, as condemnatory of the San Domingo project, and of the arbitrary and centralizing acts of the Administration, culminating in the removal of Mr. Sumner from the Chairmanship of one of the most important Committees of Congress.

A HIT BACK.

Mr. STRANG, Republican, moved to amend by adding, the "Hon. Charles Sumner, who has for many years distinguished himself by his opposition to Democracy, and to its beloved associate, slavery."

A partizan discussion followed till adjournment.

SALE OF INTOXICATING LIQUORS.

Afternoon Session.—One hour was occupied with the bill repealing the act prohibiting the sale of intoxicating drinks in Blairsville and Burrel township, Indiana county, or within three miles thereof.

Mr. SLOAN, of Indiana, seeing a disposition to defeat the bill, moved its reference back to the committee, which led to a discussion, and the motion was carried.

The next two hours were occupied on the

PHILADELPHIA COMMISSION BILLS.

Reports from committees being in order, Mr. Lamon reported from the Municipal Corporation of Philadelphia, on the Police Commission bill, with negative recommendation, but no other reports from that committee being made, Mr. Johnson Chairman of the Municipal Corporation, submitted a communication in writing which that committee had instructed him to report, with a negative recomendation of all the Philadelphia commission bills, four in number.

A TEMPORARY BLOCKADE.

But the bills were in the hands of friends of the measures, who refused to give them up.

An exciting discussion followed on the question of receiving this communication, Mr. Josephs, and others opposing it, and violent contradictory language was used by members of the Committee, until finally the paper was withdrawn, with the understanding that the bills would be reported immediately, whereupon Mr. Duffy reported the Water Commission, the Money and Public Works Commission, and Mr. McGowan the bill regulating the Philadelphia police, all with negative recommendations.

NEW YORK CITY.

Erie Decision—Fisk Come to Grief—Rates of Travel Reduced—Troops for San Domingo—Convicted of Arson at Sea and Sentenced to be Hung.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, March 15, 1871.

PROBABLE RAILROAD ROBBERY.

Yesterday morning a laborer while walking on the track of the Hudson River Railroad, near Dobb's Ferry, in Westchester county; discovered three empty packing cases which had evidently been thrown from the freight car and rifled of their contents. One of them was marked Evans, Grier and Co., Montreal, and the other Browning, Sloan and Co., Indianapolis. It is believed that the boxes contained dry goods thrown from the midnight freight train by parties concealed in one of the cars before the train left New York on Monday night.

REPUBLICAN EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

The members of the Executive Committee met last night; Horace Greeley presiding. An informal discussion upon the action of the State Committee was held, during which very strongly opposing opinions were ventilated. The appointment of permanent officers was next taken up. Several names were proposed which met with their opposition. The meeting adjourned without coming to any conclusion.

REDUCED FREIGHTS.

The new list of reduced prices just adopted by the New York Central and Hudson River, Erie and Pennsylvania Central lines, of the more important western points are as follows: Freight list per cwt for first class goods, including dry goods, boots and shoes and general merchandise from New York west to Chicago $1.03, to Cairo $1.24, to Louisville $1.14; to Nashville $1.43; to Cincinnati 93c; to Cleveland 66c; to Toledo 78c; to Sandusky 73c; to Detroit 71c; to Kansas City $1.84; to St. Louis $1.29; to St. Joseph $1.89; to Keokuk $1.34; to Milwaukee $1.09. The rates by steamer by way of Buffalo to the Lake Michigan ports also show considerable reduction in prices.

RATES OF TRAVEL REDUCED.

The rates of traveling between this city and Albany will be greatly reduced, it is said, during the coming season. The People's Line of steamers began by carrying passengers for one dollar. It is expected the Troy Line will underbid their rival again, and carry for fifty cents. There is also a rumor that Fisk threatens to eclipse Mammoth Drew and Dean Richmond with two immense floating hotels, and thus cause the competing lines to go still lower in their prices. The railroads will be compelled to come down also.

TROOPS FOR SAN DOMINGO.

The World says: It is a fact, we are reliably informed, that the Eighth United States Infantry, after numbering nearly, if not quite, one thousand men, have been held in readiness on Governor's Island, this harbor, ever since the San Domingo Commission left, to proceed at once to that island in case the Commissioners should telegraph that Cabral resisted their movements, or in case Hayti should undertake to interfere with Baez while the Commissioners were on the island.

JIM FISK HAS TO TOE THE MARK.

Judge Blatchford having appointed Kenneth G. White Master in Equity in the suit between the Erie Railroad and its English stockholders, White has ordered Fisk to turn over the 60,054 English shares of stock.

TAKES THE WILL FOR THE DEED.

The Tweed Testimonial Association has dissolved, and the $8,000 which it received by private subscription for erecting a statue to Senator Tweed, is to be returned to the subscribers.

A LITERARY SPREE.

The publishers of the Aldine gave a banquet to the press of the city at the St. James Hotel this evening. Henry Ward Beecher presided. Messrs. Bryant, Greeley, Tilton and others made addresses.

WESTERN EMIGRATION.

A company of about fifty persons, men, women and children, left this city this morning for Cheyenne and Denver; they intend to establish a colony in Colorado.

FOOLS AND THEIR MONEY.

The Brooklyn Democrats fired one hundred guns to-night to celebrate the New Hampshire victory.

MEMPHIS.

Terrific Gale.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

MEMPHIS, March 15.—About noon to-day, a terrific gale came up from the Southwest, the lower portion of which struck the northern portion of the city, unroofing a large number of houses, among them the Stanton Block on Madison street, Bradley Block on Batture, Guy, McClellan & Co.'s, front, and a number of others. A piece of lumber from a lumber yard struck a man named Stevens, the proprietor of a lumber boat lying at the foot of Poplar street, injuring him fatally. It is feared considerable damage has been done above here.

Election at Camden—A Republican Mayor.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, March 15.—The Republicans of Camden elected their Mayor by 143 majority; the Democrats elect a Receiver of Taxes.

42nd CONGRESS.

(FIRST SESSION.)

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, March 15, 1871.

SENATE.

COMMANDER RETURNED TO ACTIVE SERVICE LIST.

Mr. OSBORNE, from the Committee on Naval Affairs, reported a bill for the restoration of Commander George A. Stevens, U. S. Navy, to the active list. Passed.

SOLDIERS' BOUNTY BILL.

Mr. WILSON introduced a bill to carry into effect the decision of the Supreme Court relating to bounties of soldiers enlisted between May 3 and July 22, 1861. Passed.

The bill gives $100 to honorably discharged soldiers enlisted between May 3 and July 22, 1861.

Bills introduced and referred to Committees as indicated.

OCEAN STEAMSHIP LINES.

PERSONAL DISABILITY BILLS.

By Mr. STEVENSON, to remove disabilities certain to Kentuckians.

LOUISIANA LEVEES.

By Mr. WEST, directing the Secretary of War to detail an officer of engineers to make a survey for a system of levees in Louisiana. Referred.

LAND GRANT.

By Mr. CORBETT, granting land for a railroad and telegraphic line from the Columbia river to Great Salt Lake.

DISBURSING OFFICERS.

Mr. MORRELL, of Vermont, called up the bill authorizing the issue of duplicate checks by disbursing officers. Passed.

DUTIES ON COAL AND SALT.

On motion of Mr. TRUMBULL, the House bills repealing the duties on coal and salt were read the second time.

SOLDIERS' $100 BOUNTY BILL.

Mr. MORRELL, of Vermont, moved to reconsider the vote upon the passage of the $100 bounty bill. He said he had been informed that the bill would involve the Government in an expenditure of $8,000,000. He then offered a resolution calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for information as to the amount of expense.

Mr. WILSON said he would not object to reconsideration. His information was that the number of soldiers entitled to bounty would be between four and five thousand, and the aggregate expense about $410,000. The failure of Congress to carry into effect the decision of the Supreme Court occasioned general disappointment and complaint, and whether the aggregate was larger or smaller, this legislation should pass. Mr. Morrill's resolution prevailed without objection.

REVISION OF STATISTICS.

Mr. CONKLING called up the bill to allow the Commissioners who are to revise the statistics, to print their reports. Passed.

Several other bills were introduced, but no specific action was taken, and after a short executive session, the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.

MORE TERRITORY. LOWER CALIFORNIA.

On motion of Mr. WOOD, it was resolved that the Committee on Foreign Affairs, when appointed be requested to examine into and report at the next Session of Congress, whether the Territory of Lower California would be a desirable acqusition to the United States, and if so with such recommendations looking to that object as may seem to that Committee, just and expedient with reference thereto.

CARELESS ENGROSSING.

Mr. DAWES introduced a bill to correct an error in the engrossing of the Naval Appropriation bill, by inserting a clause appropriating $5,000 for plans of a floating dock, it having during the hurry toward the close of the last session been omitted by some temporary clerk.

Mr. ELDREDGE gave notice of his intention to introduce a bill for the

in North Carolina.

The Speaker said that the introduction of that bill would be in order only when the gentleman's State was called.

Mr. COX subsequently inquired whether New Hampshire was in the bill.

Mr. DAWES replied that New York as much as New Hampshire was interested, in seeing this bill passed.

RANDALL GETTING TIRED.

Mr. RANDALL offered a resolution that when the House adjourn to-day, it be to Saturday next, and when it adjourn on the latter day it be to Tuesday next. The resolution was rejected.

Mr. RANDALL then modified his resolution so as to provide for an adjournment till Saturday next. The question decided negatively.

Mr. BEATTY introduced a bill granting permission to the

to erect a monument to Professor Morse at the intersection of Pennsylvania avenue and Seventh street, provided it involved no expense to the Government. Passed.

Mr. COX moved that the House adjourn. Negatived.

VERY TIRED BY THIS TIME.

Mr. RANDALL moved that when the House adjourns it do so until Saturday next. Negatived, the Democrats voting for and the Republicans against.

COX TRIES TOO, AND IS DEFEATED.

Mr. COX, at ten minutes of two, moved to adjourn, and this question was also defeated.

MR. BUTLER'S SOUTHERN BILL.

Mr. BUTLER, of Mass., gave notice of his intention to introduce a bill to protect loyal citizens of the United States in their lives and property, and asked that it be printed for the information of the House. There were objections on the Democratic side of the House.

Mr. BECK objected to any business until the regular committees were appointed.

Mr. BROOKS of New York, said the House was in no order to do business until the regular committees were appointed. Considerable debate sprung up on this question. Several members desired to introduce other bills, but Mr. Butler stood firm and objected to anything but his own bill. Some of the Democratic members tried to have an opportunity for a little crow, by asking leave to read a dispatch containing the result of the late New Hampshire election, but could not by reason of objections on the Republican side.

THE WAR CARRIED INTO THE ENEMY'S CAMP.

Mr. Butler, of Massachusetts, inquired whether it would be in order to have read a telegraphic despatch showing that the Ku-Klux in Mississippi last night murdered four men.

Mr. GARFIELD—"And that is another Democratic victory."

MR. BUTLER'S BILL

Mr Butler, of Massachusetts, sent up his bill to protect the loyal people of the United States in their lives and property.

Mr. COX raised a point of order, that a day's notice had not been given in introducing the bill.

The Speaker sustained the point.

VOTE RECONSIDERED.

Mr. BATES moved to reconsider the vote, and lay the motion on the table, pending which Mr. Maynard moved that the House adjourn. Negatived. Mr. Bates' motion was then agreed.

Mr. PETERS inasmuch as he offered the resolution, said under no circumstances did he desire to be placed upon the Committee.

Mr. BULLER of Massachusetts, also said that under no circumstances would he be placed on the Committee.

MR. PETERS' RESOLUTION.

Mr. PETERS offered the following resolution.

Resolved, That a select committee of thirteen be appointed by the Speaker, whose duty it shall be to inquire into the condition of the late insurrectionary States, so far as regards the execution of the laws, and the safety of lives and property of citizens of the United States, and report the result of the investigation to the House in December, with such recommendations as they may deem expedient, and that said committee be authorized to employ a clerk and stenographer, to sit during recess, to send for persons and papers, to take testimony and visit at their discretion through a sub-committee, any portion of the southern States during recess, and that the expenses of said committee be paid from the contingent fund of the House.

Mr. BUTLER, of Massachusetts, raised a point of order that no previous notice had been given of the intended introduction of the resolution.

The Speaker explained that the resolution could be introduced at this time, but in the case of a bill or joint resolution, which required the signature of the President, one day's notice had to be given.

RESOLUTION OBJECTED TO.

Mr. BUTLER, of Massachusetts, objected to the resolution, and hoped that every man who attended the caucus would vote against it.

The Resolution was, under operation of the previous question, passed—Yeas, 125,—Nays, 64.

TIME OF ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. WHEELER offered a resolution that, the Senate concurring, the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House close the present session of Congress on the 20th March, instant, at twelve o'clock, noon. The resolution was agreed to—yeas 119, nays 78.

Mr. WOOD moved that when the House adjourn to-day it be to Friday next, which was negatived.

The Speaker announced the following committee under Mr. Peters' resolution: Mr. Butler, of Massachusetts; Sheilabarger Kelly, of Pennsylvania, Maynard, Coburn, Buckley, Stevenson, Burdett, Cox, Beck, Archer and Robinson.

The House at four o'clock adjourned.

NEVADA.

Vigilance Committee.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16.—Last night the Vigilants entered the jail at Virginia City, Nevada, and took out William Willis who is charged with an attempt to burn Piper's Opera House, and took him to the latter building in the basement of which there were a hundred armed and masked men, and hanged him to a beam until he confessed he was guilty of the crime stated, also other crimes, implicating also numerous others heretofore unsuspected, then returned him handcuffed to the jailor. Willis then confessed to the chief of police, and the result was the arrest of Charles McWilliam and Thomas Faswell as accomplices with him in numerous recent incendiary attempts.

In the course of his remarks the President of the Ministry alluded to the dispatch recently sent by Count Von Beust, expressive of the hope that its increase of friendship toward Germany would not affect the individuality of the Austro-Hungarian monarch. This increased friendship, said the Count, would render necessary a careful interpretation of the principle of nationalities. The prohibiation was intended only for the preservation of order, for friendship towards Germany would be but of little value if the Government were unable to rule at home.

IMPORTANT CAUCUS PROCEEDINGS.

The Republican Senators held another caucus this afternoon, to consider the question whether it was advisable to enact a bill for the suppression of the Ku Klux outrages in the South. It is probable that the majority will to-morrow decide that it is inexpedient to take any action on the subject at present, and that the Senate should concur in the House resolution for adjournment next week. Among the Senators opposed to any legislation this session in regard to the condition of affairs in the South, are understood to be Messrs. Trumbull, Hamlin, Morrell, Buckingham, Conkling, Sawyer, Kellogg and Robertson. The caucus adjourned until to-morrow.

The resolution for a Select Committee of 13, submitted to the House to-day by Mr. Peters, was prepared by Speaker Blaine, who intended it as a substitute for legislation during the present session on the Ku-Klux question. All the Republicans not being agreed to the bill as prepared by the caucus, the Joint Committee's resolution was adopted by 126 yeas to 69 nays. Of the yeas 58 were Republicans and 68 Democrats. Of the nays 50 were Republicans and 14 Democrats; So the majority of each party present voted for the resolution. It is said that Butler, Shellabarger, Stevenson and Kelley will to-morrow ask to be excused from serving on the Select Committee. Many prominent party men from abroad will be present.

NEW YORK, March 15, 1871.

The Tribune of this morning says: The Republicans in New Hampshire yesterday seem to have lost the Governor, all the Congressmen, the Council, and probably the Senate, while the House is only claimed for the Republicans by a majority of from ten to twenty in a body of 300 members, and that on the vote from 165 towns the Republicans gain on last year's vote 960, while the Democrats gain 3,436, a net Democratic gain of 2,476. The Tribune then adds: New Hampshire has not become Democratic. This vote means mainly if not wholly, Republican apathy, born of over-confidence and the continuous triumphs of sixteen years, the Republican disaffection engendered by local quarrels, liquor, and the unwise and untimely Sumner trouble.

The World has some special returns from New Hampshire, and sums up the result in that State yesterday as follows: The Democrats have elected their Governor and Railroad Commissioner; two, certain, and probably three, Congressmen, and a majority in the State Senate. The House of Representatives is in doubt.

BOSTON.

St. Patrick's Day in the Morning—General Butler for Governor—Why the Democrats Carried New Hampshire.

[By telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

BOSTON, March 15.—The Montgomery Light Guards will act as an escort to the Irish procession on St. Patrick's day, and will parade in citizens dress, the colonel and other officers of the regiment to which the guard belong, having refused them permission to appear as a military body.

The Journal to-day says if all accounts are true, it is the intention of the friends of Gen. Butler to place his name before the Republican Convention for Governor. It is said Gen. Butler is not committed as yet to this proposition, though he does not treat the suggestion with indifference. Dr. Geo. B. Loring, in case this programme is carried out, will run in the Fifteenth Congressional District, to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Butler.

The Concord (N. H.) Statesman attributes the defeat of the Republicans to the removal of Sumner, the San Domingo scheme, land grants, the failure of Congress to restore our commerce and forcing upon the party unpopular nominees by packed caucuses.

OHIO.

Legislative Proceedings—Waterworks Tested—Reunion of the Army of the Tennessee—Compositors' Strike.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

COLUMBUS, March 15.—Considerable time was spent in the Ohio Senate on the resolution in opposition to the Cincinnati and Southern Railroad bill, pending in Congress, which was finally killed by reference to a committee. The House bill providing for submission of the question of a convention to revise the State Constitution, passed the Senate. The bill permitting counties and cities to assist in building railroads underwent a long discussion in the House, but no definite action was taken.

CINCINNATI, March 15.—The Covington Holly Water Works were tested in the presence of a large number of persons this afternoon. Delegations were present from various places. The test appears to give general satisfaction.

The following roads carry delegates at half fare to the reunion of the army of the Tennessee to occur April 6th and 7th: Baltimore & Ohio: Marrietta & Cincinnati; Atlantic & Great Western; Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton; Ft. Wayne, Muncie & Cincinnati; Chicago, Cincinnati & Louisville; Ft. Wayne, Jackson, & Saginaw; Springfield & Illinois; Southeastern & Louisville; New Albany & Chicago: Dayton & Union. The following carry at reduced rates but not half fare: Pittsburgh, Ft. Wayne & Chicago; Pennsylvania Central: Burlington & Missouri River: Caicago & Northwestern; Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific. The Louisville Mail Line & Big Sandy, Nashville & Portsmouth Packet Companies carry at half fare.

CLEVELAND, O., March 15.—The strike of the compositors on the Cleveland Herald Monday, turns out to have been a very small affair. A compositor set up a claim, which the proprietors declined to allow. The Union was called on to aid in enforcing the claim, and a portion of the printers went out to await its decision. That body decided the matter to be beyond its jurisdiction, and the Union printers went to work at once.

The colored soldiers and sailors of Cleveland held a meeting this evening, to take measures for the organization of a Kansas Colony.

Information having been received that O'Donovan Russa would pass through here on the 24th, on his way to Louisville, the Irishmen of the city held a meeting last evening to take measures to receive and induce him to lecture.

MAHONEY, PA.

Coal Strike Anticipated.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

MAHONEY CITY, PA., March 15.—The miners of the bituminous region, out of sympathy for the anthracite miners, have resolved to suspend work in a few days. The bituminous coal fields west through the Chenango Valley, employ twenty thousand miners. The Lehigh Valley Railroad and other roads are now using bituminous coal, and should these miners suspend work, the railroads will be deprived of their supply of coal.

Drug Clerk Shot at Silver Lake.

From the Topeka, (Kan.) Commercial, March 8

Yesterday the town of Silver Lake was thrown into wild excitement by a shooting affray, which will probably cost the victim his life.

Dr. Ward keeps a drug store in that town, and employs Wm. T. Pollock as clerk. Some time ago Dr. Ward ordered his clerk not to trust a certain Dr. White. Yesterday Dr. White sent a little boy to Dr. Ward's drug store for some drugs. Pollock, obeying the instructions of his principal, refused to let the drugs go without the money. The boy reported the facts to Dr. White, who immediately went to the store and threatened to shoot Pollock if he ever did so again. Words of an angry character were interchanged, and in the struggle which ensued, Pollock "got the better" of the Doctor. They parted, and in a subsequent struggle, Pollock, on one side of a pillar which stood in the store-room, held the Doctor fast. As they thus stood, breast to back, the Doctor disengaged his right hand, pulled his revolver, and pointing it backwards, shot Pollock three or four times, it is supposed, through the stomach and bowels. Dr. Ward came to the city yesterday afternoon and took Dr. Edison back with him to assist in saving Pollock's life if possible. Dr. Ward thought, however, there was no chance to save him.

Imperial.

The regalia of the German Empire, long kept in the Hofburg at Vienna, will probably be used during the approaching Coronation of King William as Emperor of Germany. First in order is the crown, which measures just one foot in hight, and which is of 24 and 21 carat gold, beset with pearls and various other gems. To keep it from pressing disagreeably close to the head of the royal wearer, it is provided with a red velvet cap, or lining, which is worn inside of it. The scepter, which is of silver, gilt, is two feet long. The point terminates in an acorn, around which are clustered four oak leaves, two of them being bent downward, while the other two are inclined upward. Next is the Reichs-apfel—this is what the Prussian eagle holds in its talons. It is a hollow ball of the finest gold, about a hand's space in diameter, being 3¼ inches across. This is encircled by two rings, the one perpendicular and the other horizontal. The first mentioned is half covered with jewels, while the ring which is placed horizontally is entirely covered with them. On the top of the ball is set a cross, also covered with gems.

A Question for Artists—What is a "Life Picture?"

The case of Oregon Wilson vs. Jacob A. Sherman was called on for trial in the Marine Court yesterday, before Judge Gross. The defendant appears having a little daughter who died, had her photograph taken after death, and from this photograph requested the plaintiff to paint a "life picture" in oil on canvass. The picture was painted, presenting a likeness of the child asleep, with her eyes closed. The picture defendent refused to accept, because, as he said, it was not according to his idea, a "life picture." His idea of a "life picture" was one with the eyes open and smiling at somebody, and this not being such, though by his direction several touches were given to it, he refused to receive the picture. The plaintiff claims that the picture was painted in the most artistic style; that to paint from a picture of a dead person with the eyes open would produce an unnatural stare; and that the picture was what artists usually term a "life picture." The amount sued for is $500, and the case is still on. G. & W. Pitman appear for the plaintiff, and A. H. Nones for the defendant.

Sarcastic.

The New York Commercial Advertiser says: "Eight or ten of the negro militia were killed," says the despatch from Chester, S. C., relating the recent troubles in that vicinity, "in consequence of having fired upon a body of mounted whites." It is an exceedingly interesting historical fact, that in all these melees at the South, the "niggers" invariably furnish the provocation, and although they are well armed, and therefore capable of producing considerable "mortality" among the whites, it is to be observed that if the services of an undertaker are ever required after one of these little "unpleasantnesses," the corpse is generally a black one. But we suppose this is readily accounted for by the fact that the whites are so much better marksmen.

IN New York the Methodists have resolved to decline all municipal gifts to churches and church institutions. Such action is not only praiseworthy, it is patriotic.

THE latest dissipation of Victor Emanuel is said to be ten-pins, to which he is much devoted. He enjoys the game, for he believes it postpones the approach of apoplexy with which he is now threatened.

THE old palace at Naples, where Alexandre Dumas resided for nearly four years, was sold the other day to a wealthy Englishman for the sum of eighty thousand lire. Dumas had bought it at one time on credit, but failed to meet his paper.

THE late Lord Bentinck's fox hunting stud was sold at auction at Tattersall's, London, lately, and some fifty horses brought more than £10,000. During the ten years that he led the Burton hunt, Lord Bentinck spent upon it more than £60,000.

THE carnival didn't flourish at Rome this season. In the first place, the police dumped several tons of confetti into the Tiber because the pellets were loaded with pebbles in a dangerous way. Then the carnival mortars were obtained from the Vatican only at the last moment, after much official correspondence, and the usual solemnities at the commencement were omitted.

THE appointment of Mr. Schaefle, a Wurtemberger by birth, and the author of a number of pamphlets on political economy, remarkabe alike for their shallowness and awkward style, to the position of Austrian Minister of Finance has created much indignation in the financial circles of Vienna, and is denounced by the press of that city as one of the worst blunders ever committed by the Emperor Francis Joseph in the selection of his advisers.

THE Spenersche Zeitung has learned from an official source that His Majesty the Emperor and King is willing to give his sanction to the bill lately introduced in the Lower Chamber, providing for a subsequent legalization of marriages irregularly contracted by military men; and this with the more readiness, as in none of the cases with which His Majesty has as yet been made acquainted are there any special reasons why a subsequent authorization should be refused.

AN old Prussian officer had a few weeks ago at Cassel a long interview with Marshal Bazaine, an account of which is published in the Soldaten-Zeitung. In the course of the conversation Bazaine ridiculed the opinion of those who had asserted that by a successful sortie from Metz in the early part of October he might have obliged the Germans to raise the siege of Paris, and he repeatedly exclaimed in the most excited manner that impartial history would fully vindicate his course.

"How old are you?" a stranger asked one day of a little fellow who was selling newspapers at the corner of the Paris Boulevards, carefully reckoning up his gains, and giving change with a practised hand. "Six," was the laconic reply. "And how long have you been carrying on this business?" With a roguish look and bending down to fold his newspapers on the pavement, as if he would show how easy it was for him to attend to two things at once, he answered: "How long? Oh, ever since I was a child." Had he ever been one.

A JEW and a Christian—two sutlers attached to the German army—were taken by the French and sentenced, without any investigation into the matter, to be hanged as spies. The Christian, without much ado, was swung off, but when the rope was placed around the neck of the Jew he began to say the Jewish death prayer—"Schma Israel," &c. The officer who was superintending the closing scene happened to be a Jew, and he at once declared that he did not believe the man was guilty, and, postponing the execution, he had the matter looked into, when it was found that both Jew and Christian were entirely innocent.

THE Honolulu Commercial Advertiser has the following:

The question of a hotel in Honolulu was made the subject of a public meeting a few nights since.

Bandman is still playing in Honolulu.

The Rev. Mr. Lyons of Waimea, Hawaii, has fully demonstrated in the numerous hymns which have come from his pen, that the Hawaiian language is capable of being moulded into harmonious verse. But we confess to no little surprise in finding that he had succeeded admirably in rendering that wonderful weird production, Poe's Raven, into a tongue which we are accustomed to hear declared to be no language, only mere gibberish.

When General Faidherbe (the Commander of the French Army of the North) was Governor of the Colony of Senegal, he was greatly karassed by the continual attacks of one of the African chiefs, whom he at last reduced to subjection, and compelled to give hostages for his future tranquility. The chief, as a proof of his faith, gave up his son and his daughter. The General, touched by this mark of confidence, treated his captives with every attention, and provided for them the best education that the colony afforded, and when, on leaving Senegal, the son was returned to his father, the young Africaine accompanied the General as his wife. Mme. Faidherbe is both witty and graceful, and quite capable of holding her own in her husband's society.

THE new Emperor of Germany is almost as much indebted to his wife, the Empress Augusta, as to Moltke and Bismarck. Her quick tact and good sense have turned the situation in his favor on more than one critical occasion. She secured his appointment as Regent by a stroke of wit at a moment when the great council of Prussia was divided on the question of declaring the late King insane. She has always sided with Bismarck in every court intrigue for his overthrow, and thus saved to her dynasty the wise counsellor who has helped to elevate it to the pinnacle of human power and glory. From her earliest youth she had a burning ambition to be Empress of Germany, and the longing of her life is gratified at last. She was a daughter of the charming Duchess of Weimer, who made her palace a home for Goethe for so many years, and, if not directly educated by that famous philosopher and poet, her studies were supervised by him, and he no doubt aided powerfully in the development of her genius.

MARRIAGE with the sister of a deceased wife is a question which for many years has excited considerable attentien in England. Formerly, while it was known to be contrary to canon, or ecclesiastical law, there were some doubts as to the common law. Therefore, to settle the question, a law was passed about thirty three years ago, by which all such marriages which had already occurred to that time were legalized, and all such future marriages were forbidden and rendered null and void. But this step was felt by many to be an unnecessary infringement of liberty. Twenty-two years ago a bill was introduced into the House of Commons to legalize such marriages; and although at that time it was rejected, it has been introduced in successive sessions with constantly increasing success. Such a bill has now been passed by the House of Commons and sent up to the House of Lords five times, and has been as often rejected by them. Last year it was rejected in that house by a bare majority, and if the votes of the Bishops had not been counted, it would have had a majority of eleven in its favor. Another such bill will be introduced this year, and it is suggested that those in favor of it should make such a decisive demonstration by their petitions as to intimate to the Bishops the folly of any longer acting as obstructives in this matter, and to show them that their continuing to do so may expedite their removal from the House of Lords, where many persons think their presence is far from desirable

FRENCH CIVILIZATION.

Which it is to be Hoped may be Reduced to a State of German Barbarism.

The Debats of February 27 gives an account of the popular demonstration on the previous day, which was marked by a fearful crime:

"Since Friday last—the anniversary of the Rebellion of 1848—great crowds of people had assembled at the Place de la Bastile, where a perpetual parade of National Guards defiling in front of the Column of July was in progress. From 6 o'clock on the morning of Sunday until evening, detachments marched up to the column, the ornamental figures around which were covered with crape, and occasional addresses in praise of the Republic were delivered. Toward the afternoon a body of some 200 or 300 men was seen emerging from the Rue St. Antoine, escorting, or rather dragging, a well-dressed man, who, bare-headed, was held by the collar by two Chasseurs-a-pied. Loud cries of 'To the river!' 'He is an informer, a spy of Pietri's!' were heard, while other voices exclaimed, 'They want to restore their bludgeon days. No pity; away with spies!' It was stated that this person had been seen, pencil in hand, noting down the numbers of the battalions which made their appearance upon the place. Upon being questioned by the two soldiers, he replied that it was no business of theirs, and it was asserted that he struck at them with a casse-tete. He was then seized, searched, and upon him were found a revolver and papers proving that he belonged to the Police. This discovery exasperated the crowd, and the unhappy man was dragged toward the canal, into which he was about to be cast when some better disposed persons thrust him into the guard-house, and the officers commanding the post ordered the gates to be closed. The quays were thronged with an excited and furious crowd, who demanded the surrender of the prisoner, and the execution of the popular sentence. The officer climbed upon the railings and explained to the mob that it was his duty to retain the prisoner in order that he might be conveyed to the Prefecture, and besought them to be calm. His exhortation was not listened to. 'They want to let him escape!' 'Give him up to us!' drowned his voice. Some foot Chasseurs got over the railings and were followed by many of the crowd, and recaptured the poor wretch, whom the National Guards on duty made no effort to save. Blows fell thickly upon him; he was hustled and kicked, and appeared almost dead. There were at that time about 20,000 persons collected on the Place de la Bastille; but, although those who called for the death of their victim only numbered 400 or 500, of whom a great proportion were mere gamins, no attempt was made to prevent the execution of their bloodthirsty decree. The prisoner was dragged toward the Boulevard Bourdon, he begged to be allowed to shoot himself. The Chasseurs who held him put him upon a bench, and submitted the question to the crowd. 'Will you allow the prisoner to blow out his brains with his own revolver?' 'No!' was the response, followed by cries of 'To the water with him!' A move was then made toward the Quai Henri IV., and there, doubting whether their victim might be able to swim, they took the precaution of tying his arms and legs, and in that condition he was carried as a mere bundle on to a barge, whence they flung him into the river. The current immediately bore away the helpless man, at whom showers of stones were hurled. Some men belonging to river steamers attempted to cast life-buoys to the drowning man, but they were driven off by the furious execrations of the mob, and ultimately desisted. The body drifted under the piling at the point of the Ile St. Louis and was no more seen. These horrible scenes lasted for upwards of two hours. Upon the Quai Henri IV. two persons who ventured to exclaim against these brutal proceeding, were themselves assailed as police spies, and threatened with death. Other persons were similarly treated, and barely saved themselves by opportune flight. In the meantime the Place de la Bastile continued to be thronged, and the cafes and wine-shops drove a flourishing trade."

JULIUS CAESAR was a great man; he won many battles, conquered many kingdoms, and enjoyed unlimited power, yet he was not happy; he never knew the taste of Pier, Dannals & Co.'s Cream Ale.

Of Pennsylvania,
No. 1105 Chestnut Street,
PHILADELPHIA, January 23, 1871.

In pursuance of the Resolution of the Republican State Central Committee, adopted at Altoona, August 16, 1870, a State Convention, composed of delegates from each Senatorial and Representative District in the number to which each district is entitled in the Legislature, will meet in the Hall of the House of Representatives, at Harrisburg, at 12 o'clock, noon, on the 17th DAY of MAY, A. D. 1871, to nominate candidates for Auditor General and Surveyor General, and to take action upon the question of Constitutional Reform, and for the transaction of such other business as may be brought before it.

Chairman Executive Committee of State Central Committee.

GOLD closed in New York on yesterday at 111⅛@111¼.

WAS it because the The Paper suspended that the Post put out the crowing fowl yesterday morning and reverently asked God to bless New Hampshire?

MR. BILLINGFELT stood alone, among Republicans in the State Senate, in his effort to traduce the Senatorial caucus that nominated General Cameron to the Chairmanship of the Committee on Foreign Relations. One Swallow makes no Summer.

THE EYES of the Democratic press have been opened. A new light has shone on them. Mr. Sumner was formerly denounced by the Democratic journals as an enemy to his country, an aristocrat, a mere intellectual bubble, and a gross violator of the Constitution. Now he is extolled by them as the very paragon of political virtue. We don't object.

IT is said there were four thousand unoccupied dwelling houses in New York last year, and half as many in Brooklyn. There is an indication that the number will be much larger this year, as many families are preparing to move into the suburban districts on the first of May. The consequence is that rents are tending considerably downwards. There might be some improvement made in this respect in this city.

THE Pittsburgh Post, speaking of the delegation chosen at the late Democratic County Convention, says it is an excellent one "which could not be otherwise when the excellence of every name presented for selection is taken into consideration" This is rather modest, considering that the Hon. J. P. Barr, Editor-in-chief of that paper, is a member of the delegation. However, barring his politics, we will endorse the excellence of the name

THE PROUD CONQUERER, the Emperor William of Germany, will made a grand triumphal march home and receive the heartiest ovations from a grateful and victorious people. Success has paved his way with roses into the hearts of his subjects. Had fate ordained it otherwise, had Napoleon conquered, he would have enjoyed similar honors from the French, while in all probability the Emperor William would have been hurled from his place. And so the world goes.

SOME pious ritualist has written a letter to a New York paper inquiring whether it is in accordance with the canons of the Protestant Episcopal Church for a clergyman to smoke a pipe in Lent. We do not know that the question has been mooted in this city, but we know some good Episcopalians here who abstain from the use of tobacco, in every form, during the Lenten season. Whether they indulge in narcotics of any kind, during the period of their abstinence from the "poisonous," and as the New York letter writer would probably say, 'impious weed,' we do not pretend to say.

THE LONDON Times has lost its usually sweet temper over the fact that a portion of the American people have awarded an enthusiastic reception to the Fenians who came hither fresh from English prisons. We cannot see any good cause for the exercise of the virtuous wrath of the "Thunderer" over the misguided patriotism of the Irish of New York in the cause of old Erin, nor do we see how it can make their conduct appear discreditable. We have all along thought it the height of ridiculousness to make heroes out of the wild Fenians who escaped their just dues through the exercise of clemency on the part of Great Britain, but still the people of this country are at full liberty to spend their money in sympathy with professed patriots as they chose, and the London Times' advice will hardly be sought after.

IT was a long time before the Northern Democracy could be convinced that their Southern allies intended to resist the authority and overthrow the Government of the United States by armed force. Even after hostilities had commenced they declared that they were a mere myth. It is as difficult to convince them now that there is an infamous order in full blast in the South, which is daily plunging the dagger into the hearts of innocent and harmless citizens for no other cause than that they are members of the Republican party. It is to be hoped that the Government will not fail to do its whole duty in the suppression of these Southern outrages, notwithstanding the incredulity of Democratic journals as to their existence. Thousands of loyal men have been cruelly murdered in the South within the last two years, and no punishment has been inflicted on their murderers. This state of thing must not be permitted to continue. Let the necessary remedy be applied at once, so that the country may not again be cursed with another civil war, which may prove more bloody than the one through which we have passed.

THE RELIGIOUS VIEWS.

The United Presbyterian of this city, a religious journal which does not deal much in party politics, has seen fit to give its opinion this week in relation to the "removal" of Senator Sumner from the Committe on Foreign Relations. Our amiable and good natured friend, the able editor-in-chief, expresses himself somewhat more strongly than he is wont to do on such matters, but as every one here knows him to be a gentleman entirely free from malice, and one who never entertains any personal ill-will towards his neighbor, he will be freely pardoned on this occasion. The United Presbyterian says:

The removal of this distinguished Senator from the chairmanship of the Committee on Foreign Affairs is made of more account than in our judgment it deserves. No one questions his fitness for the position so far as ability is concerned; but always egotistic, he has grown imperious of late, and seems to have imagined that there is no man but himself in the Senate, or the country, capable of dictating a policy. He will be the better of a little relief of his dignity. Politically, it might have been better for his party to have borne with him in his position. Some of the ablest Republican Senators plead for him warmly; but the majority were against him.

It concludes by saying, "the country will survive it, when the present excited feeling subsides, it will be seen to be an event of no extraordinary importance."

POLITICAL APATHY.

There are some persons who consider it a virtue not to take any interest in the political affairs of the country. We have heard of some men, whose friends claim for them eminent distinction and superior ability in their profession, who boast that they have not attended a political meeting, nor cast a single vote into the ballot box for the last ten or twenty years. We have no hesitation in saying that such men, whatever may be their worth in other respects, are not good citizens, and have not the interests of their country at heart. We question if they have any right to be called American citizens at all. If they were questioned as to the basis on which all civil authority rests, they would respond, "On Divine authority,"—"The powers that be are ordained of God." Why then should they maintain a state of apathy towards a divine institution? Every citizen is under an obligation to discharge his duty to the State, as well as to the God who has ordained and established it.

We entirely agree with the Age in what it says, in a recent issue, on this subject. "The strength of popular governments lies in the interest which the great mass of the citizens take in the conduct of their affairs." We admit that the ancient Greeks enjoyed a pure Democracy. But their's was a government of the people by the people. No such Democracy ever has existed, and never can, in our judgment, exist in this country. But we do hold that the greater the interest taken by the great mass of the people in the politics of the nation the stronger will the government become. This was seen during the progress of the war when the people shook off their political lethargy, and went forth in their might to the ballot box.

Many people complain that bad men are put into office, and parties are going to ruin, who never do any thing to prevent either the one or the other. There would be no ground for complaint if all would do their duty, and not leave the conduct of political affairs to a few men, who, sometimes, are not guided so much by principle as by a love for place and profit A thousand times has a good cause been lost through the apathy of those who professed to be deeply interested in its success, but never used any efforts to secure it. The journal, already referred to, says, and we believe it, "It is as commendable for a man to boast that he takes no interest in his business, or in his family affairs," as to vaunt it before the world that he takes no heed to the political affairs of his country.

To this apathy and lack of interest in political affairs may be attributed the defeat which the Republican party has sustained in New Hampshire. That defeat cannot be attributed in any part to the recent difficulty in the Senate regarding the Chairmanship of the Committee on Foreign Relations. The people of the country do not regard the difficulty with so much interest as the newspapers have done. It has occurred so recently that it had no time to work any detriment, even if it were a matter of so much importance as some would have us believe. If the election had taken place in Massachusetts, there might be some plausibility for attributing the defeat to that cause. But in New Hampshire it could not have exerted any influence on the people, so soon, to cause them to cast their vote one way or another. It is a poor compliment which some pay to the Republican party, when they assert that the mere matter of one man's election, or non-election to the chairmanship of a committee could metamorphose it, in the twinkling of a an eye, into Democracy.

There has been a growing indifference among the Republicans of New Hampshire for years, based upon the consideration that they were too strong to be defeated. But all experience goes to show that men and parties are never so weak as when they boast of and rely upon their strength, and put forth no adequate effort to secure success.

It is true that the Republican party in New Hampshire has been distracted by local quarrels, and petty, personal feuds. There were, too, some four tickets in the field—the Republican, Democratic, Temperance and Reform. But all these combined could not have wrought the defeat of Tuesday or overcome the Republican vote of the State if the people had done their duty, and had not left themselves chargeable with a highly culpable apathy. Republicans, take warning, Never become indifferent to the performance of your duty. Active, constant effort, and eternal vigilance are the price of party and of victory.

SOUND WORDS.

Speaking of attacks made upon President Grant by professed Republicans and Republican journals, the New York Times gives expression to a few excellent thoughts, which we earnestly request those who may be given to fault-finding to ponder carefully. Granting that their utterances proceed from honest convictions, and not from disappointment in not obtaining coveted places of trust and emolument, we do not see how their course can bring about a better state of things. Hear what the Times says on the subject:

"There can be no doubt, for instance that papers like the Evening Post of this City have committed themselves, for some reason or other, to a course which entitles us to regard them as active Democratic journals, and which is in complete opposition to the best interest of the country. They do the work of the Democratic leaders far more industriously than the regular papers of that party. They catch up every idle story which is told against the Government, they exaggerate venial faults into great crimes, they even set to work inventing "news" for the purpose of bringing the Administration into disgrace. All this is not calculated to accomplish any beneficial result, but simply to hand the country over to the hands of the Democrats. Now, what we want to know is, how much better off do these "irreconcilables" think they would be if they succeeded in bringing about this result? If Gen. GRANT is not quite the man they wish to see in the White House, would JOHN T. HOFFMAN suit them any better? Is the system under which New York is governed, and with which the Post is so enamored, that which the great body of Republicans would like to see introduced into the National Government?

Probably they would answer no; and yet what other results could be expected from the success of the Democrats in 1872? The Democratic "sinews of war" are all in the hands of Tammany, and a Democratic success at the Presidential election simply means HOFFMAN in the White House, with his well-known backers in New York and his chief advisers. Local misrule would then be expanded into something like national spoliation. TWEED and SWEENY would not be converted into honest men simply because you placed unlimited opportunities before them of embezzling the public money. Think of the state our finances would probably be in at this moment if the Tammany horde had been allowed to "manage" them during the last five or six years.

SANE OR INSANE?

EDITORS GAZETTE: I beg to differ from the sentiment contained in your ably-written editorial on what you are pleased to call the crime of suicide. I do not believe that any sane and perfectly responsible man ever commits suicide; neither do I believe that such an act proves a man devoid of personal courage. Can you conceive it possible for a sound, perfectly healthy man, whose mind is placid and serene, unracked by the tempest of sorrow and trouble, deliberately walking into the unknown future? Is not suicide, in every instance where we can find anything throwing any light on the act, directly traceable to the effects of mortification or depression of spirits caused by some overwhelming grief or disappointment? Take a thousand cases and I challenge the production of a single one of that number, where you can with truth and justice say that the mind was at rest or balanced. The statistics of our oldest life insurance companies fully attest that suicide is almost uniformly traceable to the disordered state of the mind, in other words to insanity, caused by trouble and despair. This being so, how can we call it a crime to take one's own life? How can it be a crime when the only actor is not a responsible creature? Then if my premises are right, how can the question of courage be brought in? A man totally or partially even, devoid of reason, cannot be supposed to have what we call human courage. But suppose for the sake of the argument that we allow that a perfectly sane man can commit suicide, then I argue that the act, if wilfully done, surely does not prove the suicide devoid of courage, but rather that he is undoubtedly prossessed of it.

Can any sane man lay his hand upon an anvil, and taking up a hammer, deliberately strike it a violent blow, or with a knife cut off a finger? If he can, would you say he had courage or not? If he could not, how can you suppose he could commit that greater crime of sending his soul into eternity? No, sir, I don't believe it possible for any sane person to perform any violent act, that, with his full knowledge beforehand, will cause him great bodily pain. Neither do I believe that greater absurdity that a sound mind in a sound body will deliberately destroy itself. That undiscovered country—that long hereafter—is the restraining power that the stoutest heart shrinks from.

PHILO.

[From the German Correspondent.]

Expenses of the War.

The expenses of the campaign of 1866 cannot serve to determine those which have arisen from the present war, as the circumstances are vastly different. The large number of troops actively engaged, the extent of the theatre of war, the distance of the field of operations, the length of time through which they have been continued, the sieges laid to great and various fortresses, the number of the prisoners and the losses which have been caused by the blockade of the German coasts and the expulsion of the Germans from France, have all helped to swell the sum. Yet it may be instructive to cast a glance at the expenditure caused by the German and Bohemian campaigns, and to note some of the principal points which have rendered the expenses of the French war far heavier.

According to the official accounts submitted to the Prussian Landtag in 1866 and 1867, 650,000 men were in arms during the Austrian war. Of these 74,000 belonged to the Landwehr, but as they were not properly speaking mobilized, the outlay was far smaller. Only 24 Landwehr battalions, numbering 822 men each, and 12 Landwehr cavalry regiments, each 648 men strong, belonged to the army in the field. Of the standing army 9 army-corps were then actively engaged, while 17 have been employed in the present war. The entire Landwehr then consisted of 100,000 men, while in the North German Federal Army it now amounts to 214,000 men and 10,000 horses, without counting the newly formed garrison-battalions. The 180,000 men of the specially formed reserve-troops are not included in this estimate. Thus the mobilized army of Northern Germany now amounts to 960,000 men with at least 200,000 horses. The South-German forces may be estimated at 187,000 men (Kummer, Grundzuge der Heeres—organization, Berlin, 1870). Now, if a horse be valued at 200 thalers, those employed by the North German calvary without their accoutrements represent a value of 40,000,000 thalers. In 1866 the equipment of the heavy cavalry cost 38 thalers per horse, and at least 61 thalers per man. In the cuirassiers of the guard the sum required amounted to 81 thalers per man. In the light cavalry the expense was estimated at 24 thalers per horse, and 45 thalers per man. The uniforms and arms of the infantry cost 34 thalers per man. The short campaign of 1866, according to the accounts submitted to the Landtag on the 3d of November, 1869, if we subtract a number of sums not immediately employed for the purposes of the war, involving an expenditure of 124,000,000 thalers, yet it lasted scarcely 8 weeks. If therefore, we estimate the expenses of mobilizing the army at 24.-000,000 thalers, the cost of keeping the number of men then engaged in the field for 32 weeks would amount to 400,000,000 thalers. But now more than double that number of men have been employed, without including the newly formed garrison battalions, if we state their number as low as 1,200,000, we shall find that the expenditure will amount to 800,000,000 thalers.

Again the distance of the field of operations must be remembered, with the increased expenditure necessary to furnish the troops with supplies and the munitions of war, and the articles required for the treatment of the sick and wounded as well as the transport of the prisoners of war by rail. The hospitals alone have demanded vastly larger sums. The losses of the Prussian army in 1866 amounted to 3,964 killed and 16,181 wounded. The official lists of the North German army and the Baden divisions during the present war contain the names of 13,960 killed and 88,924 wounded. It follows that from 5 to 6 times as many as formerly require hospital treatment The number of the wounded in the corps of Bavaria and Wurtemberg, as well as the wounded French soldiers who have remained on the hands of the Germans, must also be reckoned. Besides this we have the transport of the unwounded prisoners.

The expenses of ammunition for the siege artillery have also been very great. According to official accounts, 241 guns were employed in bombarding Strasburg, and they threw 193,722 projectiles in the course of the siege. Prehn estimates the cost of a simple shell for a 24 pounder at 4 2-3 thalers (14s). The 25 and 50-pound bombs, the shrapnels, and the elongated grenades were far more expensive. Accordingly the ammunition expended in the reduction of Strasburg alone must have cost at least 2,000,000 thalers. This may enable us to form sone idea of the sums expended in the conquest of the other French fortresses, and in bombarding the forts of Paris, when 600 guns were employed.

Again, pensions must be paid to the crippled and to the relations of the fallen. Then there is the waste in uniforms, arms, field-telegraphs and the other material. In 1866, 27,000,000 thalers were required to repair the losses thus caused. The cost of the railways built and repaired by the Germans in France, the expense of arming the coastal fortresses and defending the coast, the compensation which, according to French law, must be paid to the inhabitants of Alsace and Lorraine, for their losses during the war, that which justice demands for the Germans who were ruthlessly expelled from France, the repayment of the sums taken by the French from the saving-banks of Alsace and Lorraine, these, and many other items will have to be borne in mind in estimating the indemnity which France will have to pay for her wanton attack on Germany.

George Ticknor's Literary Bequest.

The municipal authorities of Boston have been notified that the bequest of books, manuscripts and money, left by the late George Ticknor, is to be made immediately available—Mrs. Ticknor having relinquished the right to the use of the property during her own life. The conditions of the bequest are that the city shall expend, once in five years, and for a period of twenty-five years, not less than $1,000 in the purchase of books in the Spanish and Portugese languages and literatures, or in one of them; and that at the end of twenty-five years the interest on the sum of $4,000, also left by Mr. Ticknor, shall be expended in the purchase of books of permanent value, either in Spanish or Portuguese, or in such other languages as may be deemed expedient by the Trustees of the Public Library. It is further required that the books shall be used only within the Library building, and that none of them shall be sold, exchanged or given away, but be kept together, as the Bowditch and Parker collections now are. In case these stipulations are disobeyed, the whole bequest is to go Harvard College.

"A Large Contract."

A pretty good story is told of himself (says the Boston Traveler) by a season ticket holder on the Boston and Maine Railroad—a wide-awake, jolly, generous, joke-loving gentleman, Democratic in his politics and liberal in his religion. Riding in a horse car a short time since, with the Catholic priest of his village, who has been active in trying to induce his flock to become temperate, he familiarly addressed him in language something as follows: "Father ——, you are doing a pretty good work just now—I don't know but you are doing as much good as all the other clergymen in town." The priest quietly replied that he was doing what he could to improve his people. "I'll tell you what it is," continued the gentleman, "I have been thinking about attending your church, but was afraid it would cost too much to get all my sins pardoned." "Oh," said the priest, "we can manage your case; when we have a very large contract we make a liberal discount!" The laughter that followed this response only closed when the cars reached the end of their route. And the captain laughs over the story as he repeats it until this day.

[FOR THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE]

THE OLDEN TIME.

V.

[NOTE—You made two mistakes in my last which I should gladly have rectified. Mr. John B. Bell was spoken of as the late John B. Bell, whereas, I am happy to be able to affirm that he still lives, and long may he continue to do so. Then in speaking of those of the Pittsburgh Blues whom I could recall you omitted Colonel Elijah Travelli, whom I had by no means forgotten.]

I last left you at the west side of St. Clair street, as after this there was so much vacant ground it may not afford much that is interesting to your readers, but as my purpose is to show some of the old land marks as well as to put in some time which might otherwise hang heavy on my hands, I shall proceed.

On the east side of St. Clair street was vacant ground, occupied at times by travelling shows of which we had some even at that early day. In 1814 the citizens were entertained by a company under the direction of a Mr. Pippin. I would not pretend to say that at this time there had never before been a circus in the town but it is the first that I remember, and it was most prodigious sport for the youngsters to see the activity of the performers both male and female; and their splendid riding and ground tumbling in the ring was wonderful to us, and the buffoonery of the clown was most amusing. So much so that for a long time after, all the youth were trying to imitate their somersaults, etc.

Next to this was the residence of Mr. Abner Barker, a large double house, the ground back of which, to the Allegheny river was his orchard and garden. Many is the time I have enjoyed myself at play in this orchard with his sons. The remains of this house were only taken down a year or two ago to make place for the present most splendid building, erected for the Young Men's Library Association, in whose hall our present large population is so often entertained with lectures, opera, concerts, etc. Next, on the east side of Barker's alley, was a cooper shop, where all kinds of cooperage were made, including a good many ale and beer barrels, and, if I mistake not, our present millionaire of a lumber merchant, Dennis Leonard was the proprietor.

About the middle of this square was a frame building and then the ground was vacant to the corner of Irwin street where now stands the fine Second Presbyterian Church. In the rear of this on Irwin street was a row of tenements, one of which was occupied by Mr. Jackman, father of the present very polite and obliging owner of the Exchange Livery stable.

Before crossing Irwin street, I had better close up the other side of the street, which can soon be done. On the corner, where the stately St. Clair Hotel now stands, there were some old houses occupied in various ways by shopkeepers and chair and cabinet-makers. Between these and Barker's alley was but one log house, about where now stands Galway's malt-house. On the east side the alley it was vacant for many years. Later Mr. John Thompson, a tanner and currier, put up a dwelling house on the corner, his tan-yard extending through to Liberty street. Next to this stood a small, unpretending log house, occupied by Daniel McHenry, and next to that, and extending to Irwin street, was the garden and orchard attached to the residence of "Doctor Bedford," which stood about midway between Penn and Liberty streets.

On this same side of Penn street to Irwin's alley, now Hancock street, there were but one or two small buildings. On the east side of Irwin's alley was the large plow shop of J. & J. Morford; adjoining this there was a brick dwelling, occupied by one of the Morford's, and from thence to Hand street the property was vacant.

Returning to the northeast corner of Penn and Irwin streets we find there a frame store house. On the Allegheny river front was Sheppard's tavern and ferry house, which is still standing, on Irwin street, above Dalzell's fine block. There was only one frame building on Penn street, between the one on the corner and Irwin's alley, and that was near the corner and was occupied by one of the Morfords. On the same ground now stands the stately Methodist church, and in the rear the female seminary, where so many of the children of our citizens received a refined education.

On the eastern corner of Hancock street was the dwelling of Colonel Anderson, the father of the late lamented and good citizen, James Anderson, and also of the late Colonel Paul Anderson. This house, although altered and differently occupied, still stands. Between that and Hand street there were some small dwellings owned by Mr. John McCormick. On the Allegheny river bank, fronting on Hand street, was the blacksmith shop, tavern and ferry house of James Speer, where now the Hand street bridge begins.

On the east side of Hand street to Garrison alley, and extending from Liberty street to the Allegheny river, was the old Fort Fayette garrison. On the south side was a long building with a broad porch in front, occupied as officers' quarters, in front and around which grew large shade trees. On the north side were the soldiers' quarters and block-house. During the War of 1812 many British prisoners were sent here, and the citizens were detailed to guard them, there being but a few regular soldiers then here.

On the northeast side of Garrison alley and the north side of Penn street, one half the square and all the way to the river, was vacant, (at a later period a portion of this ground was occupied by the white lead factory of James S. Stevenson), and then came two brick houses, one occupied by Mr. Robert Peebles, well known as the old popular hatter, the other by James Cooper, then Clerk of the Markets and Sealer of Weights and Measures. Then came vacant ground again to the corner of Wayne street, until Reverend Francis Herron built his residence, which was only destroyed a few years ago to make way for the spacious pork and packing house of Frank Sellers.

From Wayne to Washington street, (then the Eastern line of the city) stood the spacious mansion of the late General John Woods, which afterwards became the property and residence of James S. Stevenson. The whole grounds were tastefully laid out in lawns and flower gardens, while in the rear a fine orchard and pasture stretched down to the Allegheny river. A portion of the original house is still standing and occupied by the Pittsburgh Fort Wayne, and Chicago Railway Company; the rest of the ground is covered with railway tracks, ware houses etc. Where instead of the peacefulness of a country home the whistling and bustling of the steam horse is constantly heard.

I now come back to the North side of the street at Garrison Alley. From that point to Washington street, there were no improvements. The stone yard of the late John Wallace was near Wayne street, and above that to Washington was a large pond of water, drained from the hills out as far as the residence of the late Harmer Denny Esq., Wayne street, was the main thoroughfare from the turnpike to the town, and the gulley between Penn and Liberty streets, was spanned over by a large stone arched bridge.

I might here mention that in the wisdom of our County Commissioner a location for a new jail was selected on the lots fronting on Wayne between Liberty and Penn streets. The size of the lot was 132 by 240 feet, and it was bought from the late Wm. Leckey, who was afterwards High Sheriff of the county. The situation was abandoned as unsuitable, and the lots were sold out by the county in 1832. On a portion of this ground now stands the block of buildings known as Commercial Row.

I deem a description of the ground from here to Two Mile Run unnecessary, as it was in farm lands and woods, with only a few houses. George Bell's farmhouse stood about midway between the town and Alexander Hill's tavern at Two Mile Run. The house still stands, but in a dilapidated condition. A short distance this side of Bell's was the rope walk of Boyle Irwin and his dwelling, a stone house, on the side of the hill.

After the incorporation of the city—in 1816 I think—a raid was made on the butchers to have them removed from the city. By authority of Councils, they located themselves along the Allegheny river and thus commenced the building up of what was afterwards known as Bayardstown. About this time Joseph Patterson erected a paper mill somewhere near where Coleman & Rahm's iron works now stand, and James Jelley put up a woolen mill, afterwards the Phoenix Cotton Factory, where now stands the St. Philomena's church.

In my future communications, I may take up some of the more prominent streets in different portions of the town.

RIP.

AN Alsacian peasant was recently questioned by a Bavarian soldier somewhat closely as to the strength of his regiment, when the latter, suspecting that his interrogator was either a spy or Franc-tireur in disguise, suddenly "drew off" and sent him sprawling to the ground, and after waiting for the Alsacian to pick himself up, coolly remarked, in his Bavarian dialect, "That's just how strong I am by myself; so if you'll just put things together, you'll find out perhaps how strong the whole of us are."

AN INSALUBRIOUS SEASON.

Spring is welcome, but not its diseases. We should be glad to have its bloom without its fogs, its vapors, its sudden changes of temperature, and the agues, fits of indigestion, bilious attacks, and other harassing disorders which they engender. As this cannot be, it behooves all sensible people to do the best they can to escape such serious drawbacks on the poetry of the season. Ask any physician what the weak and delicate ought to do when miasma infects the air. The answer will be, "tone and regulate the system." But how? That is the important question. A dozen medical men would probably recommend as many different medicines. On the other hand, the thousands who have tested the virtues of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as an invigorant and alterative, will recommend but one, the wholesome preven ive and restorative in which their own experience has taught them to trust. A course of this rar vegetable stimulant, commenced now, would save many a pang to the feeble and debilitated. It would be wise economy too, for it would probably preclude the necessity for medical advice. Without disparagement to a profession which all intelligent men and women respect and honor, it is just as well, if possible, to keep out of the doctors' hands, and they would have comparatively few cases of fever and ague, dyspepsia, biliousness, nervousness, and general debility to attend to, if this agreeable and healthful specific were in universal use.

Keep Your Houses Clean,
AND
BY USING THE
Wellman Patent Reflector
STOVE AND GRATE.
Which Stand Without a Rival.

The WELLMAN STOVE is furnished with the "REFLECTOR GRATE," and possesses all the advantages of an open fire place; it is specially adapted to houses where the flues are too small to admit a grate, and affords all the comforts of a CHEERFUL OPEN FIRE.

1st. As a radiator of heat it has double the intensity of any other grate.

2d. It is unquestionably the most cleanly—no soot or ashes escaping into the room—which, in the ordinary Grate, proves so detrimental to carpets and furniture.

3d. The combustion is perfect. There is no waste in unburnt cinders—every ounce of the fuel is so completely consumed, that nothing remains but the finest ashes.

4th. As an economizer of fuel—there being an actual saving of at least 25 per cent.

5th. It is highly ornamental.

6th. It is set so deep in the chimney, that it is much safer, and also less liable to puff in windy weather.

7th. A slight motion of the shaker cleanses the entire fire, and causes it to burn with great brilliancy and intensity of heat.

Samples may be seen and references had at the store of W. BARNES, corner of 3d avenue and Market street, Pittsburgh; W. F. GOODWIN, 66 Federal street, Allegheny, or at the FOUNDRY, corner Duquesne Way and Water street, Pittsburgh.

Parties who are building, or who contemplate changing Grates, are respectfully requested to examine "The Wellman." Satisfaction guaranteed in all cases.

NEW LOAN OF THE UNITED STATES.—IMPORTANT CIRCULAR.
TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, February 28th, 1871.

Public notice is hereby given that books will be opened on the sixth day of March next, in this country and in Europe, for subscriptions to the National Loan, under the Act approved July 14, 1870, entitled "An Act to authorize the Refunding of the National Debt," and the Act in amendment thereof, approved January 20, 1871.

The proposed loan comprises three classes of Bonds, namely:

First—Bonds to the amount of five hundred millions of dollars, payable in coin, at the pleasure of the United States, after ten years from the date of their issue, and bearing interest, payable quarterly in coin, at the rate of five per cent. per annum.

Second—Bonds to the amount of three hundred millions of dollars, payable in coin, at the pleasure of the United States, after fifteen years from the date of their issue, and bearing interest, payable quarterly in coin, at the rate of four and a half per cent. per annum.

Third—Bonds to the amount of seven hundred millions of dollars, payable in coin, at the pleasure of the United States, after thirty years from the date of their issue, and bearing interest, payable quarterly in coin, at the rate of four per cent. per annum.

Subscriptions to the loan will have preference in the following order, namely:

First—Subscriptions that may be first made for five per cent. bonds to the amount of two hundred millions of dollars; of which there will be reserved for twenty days, one half for subscribers in this country and one-half for subscribers in foreign countries.

Second—Subscriptions for equal amounts of each class of bonds.

Third—Subscriptions for equal amounts of bonds bearing interest at the rate of four and a half per cent. and of bonds bearing interest at the rate of five per cent.

Fourth—Subscriptions for any five per cent. bonds that may not be subscribed for in the preceding classes.

When a subscription is made the subscriber will be required to deposit two per cent. of the amount thereof, in coin or currency of the United States, or in bonds of the class to be exchanged, to be accounted for by the Government when the bonds are delivered; and payment may be made either in coin or in bonds of the United States known as FIVE-TWENTY BONDS, at their par value.

The coin received in payment will be applied to the redemption of five-twenty bonds, and the debt of the United States will not be increased by this loan.

The bonds will be registered or issued with coupons, as may be desired by subscribers. Registered bonds will be issued of the denominations of $50, $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000; and coupon bonds of each denomination except the last two. The interest will be payable in the United States, at the office of the Treasurer, any Assistant Treasurer, or Designated Depositary of the Government, quarterly, on the first days of February, May, August, and November in each year.

The bonds of the several classes aforesaid, and the interest thereon, are exempt from the payment of all taxes or dues of the United States, as well as from taxation in any form by or under State, municipal or local authority.

After maturity, the bonds last issued will be first redeemed, by classes and numbers, as may be designated by the Secretary of the Treasury.

The bonds will be issued at the United States Treasury, but the agents for the negotiation of the loan in Europe are authorized to make arrangements with subscribers for the transmission of bonds to the agents through whom subscriptions may be received.

Subscribers in the United States will receive the new bonds of the agents with whom the subscriptions are made.

In the United States the National Banks are authorized to receive subscriptions, and subscriptions may also be made at the office of the Treasurer of the United States, or of any Assistant Treasurer or the designated depositaries at Buffalo, N. Y.; Chicago, Ill.; Cincinnati, Ohio; Louisville, Ky.; Mobile, Ala., and Pittsburgh, Pa.

The following banking houses are also authorized to act as agents in receiving subscriptions in the United States, viz.:

DR. WHITTIER
CONTINUES TO TREAT ALL PRIVATE DISEASES, Syphilis in all its forms, all urinary diseases, and the effects of mercury are completely eradicated: Spermatorrhea or Seminal Weakness and Impotency, resulting from self-abuse or other causes and which produce some of the following effects as blotches, bodily weakness, indigestion, consumption, aversion to society, unmanliness, dread of future events, loss of memory, indolence, nocturnal emissions, and finally so prostrating the sexual system as to render marriage unsatisfactory and therefore imprudent, are permanently cured. Persons afflicted with these or any other delicate intricate or long standing constitutional complaint should give the Doctor a trial; he never fails.

A particular attention given to all Female complaints, Leucorrhea or Whites, Falling, Inflammation or Ulceration of the Womb, Ovaritis, Pruritis, Amenorrhoea, Menorrhagia, Dysmenorrhoea, and Sterility or Barrenness, are treated with the greatest success.

It is self-evident that a physician who confines himself exclusively to the study of a certain class of diseases and treats thousands of cases every year must acquire greater skill in that specialty than one in general practice.

The Doctor publishes a medical pamphlet of fifty pages that gives a full exposition of venereal and private diseases that can be had free at office or by mail for two stamps, in sealed envelopes. Every sentence contains instruction to the afflicted, and enabling them to determine the precise nature of their complaints.

The establishment, comprising ten ample rooms is central. When it is not convenient to visit the city, the Doctor's opinion can be obtained by giving a written statement of the case, and medicines can be forwarded by mail or express. In some instances, however, a personal examination is absolutely necessary, while in others daily personal attention is required, and for the accommodation of such patients there are apartments connected with the office that are provided with every requisite that is calculated to promote recovery, including medicated vapor baths. All prescriptions are prepared in the Doctor's own laboratory, under his personal supervision. Medical pamphlets at office free, or by mail for two stamps. No matter who have failed, read what he says. Hours 9 A. M. to 8 P. M. Sundays 12 M. to 2 P. M. Office, No. 296 PENN STREET.

THE DAILY GAZETTE.

MONEY AND COMMERCE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, March 15, 1871.

The local money market continues comparatively easy with a scarcity of first class paper in sums to suit private lenders. The banks and private bankers appear, however, to have a full supply and are indisposed, while the loan demand is steady, though not large, to make any change in borrowing rates.

The market for home bonds and stocks is but moderately active. The few sales made thus far during the week are generally at higher figures, and it would probably take but a slightly increased demand to pull all of our current securities from one to five per cent higher than at present.

Allegheny Valley 7-30 bonds are held steadily at 90@90¾, at which prices they are quoted in Philadelphia.

Connellsville 7's are quiet at the same figure.

Columbia oil stock sold to-day at $17.50. There were bids for more at the same price, but holders are demanding $18.

The daily average production the last week was 422 bbls. The Company are testing, this week, a new well, and expect to have another ready for trial within a few days.

The New York market is firm and demand fair. Gold is a shade higher, and U. S. Bonds generally lower.

The stock market shows activity in the Vanderbilt stocks, with an advance. Reading without special change. Cleveland & Pittsburgh fluctuates, and dealers begin to realize that "certain news" is sometimes "mighty onsartin." The St. Paul stocks are steady, but inactive. Pacific Mail is getting back to old figures.

Ohio & Mississippi attach more than usual attention. The quotations to-day exhibit less fluctuation. The bulls promise five per cent higher figures, the bears say that a grand tumble is imminent.

The Cleveland Herald, referring to the election of a New York Board in the Cleveland, Columbus & Indianapolis Road, makes the following remarks in reference to the rumors current a month since in reference to the C. C. C. & I Road:

"The election of Messrs. Clark and Schell indicates a close alliance of the Lake Shore with this railroad. This is somewhat significant, in view of the short line now being constructed from Dayton to Cincinnati, by both these roads. The gossip in railroad circles that the C. C. C. & I. would be leased by the Lake Shore seems to have been rumor only, as no action looking in that direction was taken at the meeting. Over 40,000 shares were voted, the largest vote ever polled."

The general railway share market has been dull, and the volume of business quite restricted, except in a few leading shares, such as Ohios, Union Pacific, Western Union Telegraph, and Lake Shore. The chief attraction, however, was centered in the manipulations of Ohio and Mississippi, the other stocks above named having been only comparatively active, and the volume of business less prominent than for several days. Ohios opened strong at 48¾, though quickly advancing to 49⅞, and as suddenly falling off about 1½ per cent. The price was again rallied under the influence of continued covering by the "shorts" until reaching 49¾, after which sales were made at 48. About 15,000 shares of "pool" stock were settled on Saturday and early this morning on the short side, and this fact, when known in the street, frightened smaller operators into assisting the manipulations of the bull clique by purchasing at the higher figures. There were, however, very heavy realizing sales in the afternoon, and the street speculators who had followed the upward current made haste to unload. The general market has been feverish, with frequent fluctuations, during a greater portion of the day, and there were indications that the "pools" in the Western Union Telegraph and Pacific Mail were also anxious to realize the late advance. New York Central stock and scrip; as also Lake Shore, were permitted to partially sympathize with the varied changes in Ohios, but prices were generally kept steady, with the opening and closing figures practically unchanged. Union Pacifics were strong throughout the day, advancing from 25⅜ to 27⅞. Erie was weak on small transactions; but the remainder of the list presented no feature of special comment or interest. At the close, Northwestern preferred was weak, and the dealings in the balance of the list were nominal.

NEW YORK, March 15, 1871.

Gold strong—all sales at 111⅛@111⅜. There is an active borrowing demand for gold to deliver on speculative sales. Carrying rates of 1 to 2 per cent. have been paid, while 1-64 per cent. per day and 1 per cent. per annum have been paid for the use of gold by borrowers. Loans also have been made flat. Specie shipments amounted to $1,000,000. Clearances $30,000,000. Governments dull and steady, without material change in price. Treasury awards $2,000,000, at from 109 58-100 to 109 59-100. Stocks opened steady, but were off a little as the day advanced. Lake Shore, Ohios, New York Central scrip and Canton were most active. Harlem was weak and fell off 3 per cent. from the first call. The market at the close was strong, with a general improvement in prices. Lake Shore led the railway list and upper ten, and sold at 99⅝. Among miscellaneous stocks Canton was the favorite, and was bid up to 83⅜. Money was easy at 4@5 per cent. There was a rumor that another lock up will be attempted towards the close of the month. State bonds dull, with the exception of new North Carolinas, which are strong and active.

PITTSBURGH MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, March 15, 1871.

APPLES—The market continues quiet and unchanged; $4@5 per bbl for fair to prime—choice, full barrels, would probably bring $5,50. The demand is mostly for small lots.

APPLE BUTTER—Quoted 75@80 cts per gallon for prime to choice.

ASHES—Common Soda Ash, 4 cts; Refined do 4¾; Pearl Ash, 9; Potash, 7¾.

COAL—Anthracite quoted at $10,00@10,50 per ton.

CORNMEAL—Small sales of prime yellow at 85@90cts per bushel.

CARBON OIL—Is firm and standard brands are quoted at 23 cts in 25 or 50 barrel lots, and the usual advance for small lots.

CEMENT—Sales Louisville Hydraulic at $3@3¼, and Calcined Plaster at $4½ per bbl.

CRANBERRIES—May be quoted at $12@18 per barrel, according to quality.

EGGS—The market is well supplied and notwithstanding there is a very fair demand prices are barely maintained; we quote at 17@18—one house reports having sold 40 barrels, to go out of this market, at 17½. It is but proper to remark, however, that some holders are loth to sell at present prices, being impressed with the belief that there will soon be an improvement.

FEATHERS—We are reported sales of No 1 live geese feathers, to the trade, at 75; may be quoted at 80 in small lots.

FLOUR—The market is quiet and devoid of any new features worthy of special notice. We continue to quote western flours at $6,75@7,00 for good spring extras; $7,25 for choice Minnesota baker's flour; $6,75@7,00 for red winter wheat and $7,25@7,50 for white. Rye Flour, $5,75@6,00.

GRAIN—Wheat is quiet and unchanged—offerings light but the supply, nevertheless, is fully up to the demand. We continue to quote at $1,35@1,40 for red, and 1,45@1,50 for white—nothing but strictly No. 1 will command the outside quotations. Oats steady and the receipts continue light but there is no improvement to note in the demand, and no change to make in quotations; sales on wharf and track at 55@56 and in store at 58@60. Corn is quiet and unchanged—there is not as much inquiry for ear as there has been though the stock here is very light, may be quoted at 72 on wharf, and 75 in store. Very little inquiry for shelled. Rye is quiet and unchanged—it is said that there is now but one buyer in this market; last sales at $1,05@1,06. Barley is quiet—but very little offering and not much inquiry for it; we continue to quote at 80@85 for spring, and 90@95 for fall.

GROCERIES—Market moderately active but devoid of anything particularly new or important. Sugars and Coffees strong but there is no quotable advance in prices. There is a continued good jobbing demand for New Orleans Molasses, and the higher grades are held very firmly. Following are the ruling quotations:

PITTSBURGH CATTLE MARKET.

EAST LIBERTY STOCK YARDS, WEDNESDAY, March 15, 1871.

CATTLE.

The arrivals thus far this week have been very light, but with a very meagre demand the market is by no means active and prices are barely maintained. The number of eastern buyers is very small, and notwithstanding the very light receipts, the supply is fully up to the demand. One drove of extra selected Southern Ohio Steers, averaging upwards of 1400, brought 7¼, but this is an extreme price and can only be obtained for something unusually fine. We can report several sales of Stock Cattle at $4,80@5,25. Thus far Kelly and Kleman have bought most of the cattle this week.

SHEEP.

Under the influence of continued light arrivals and an average demand, the market is strong and prices have still further advanced. Prime to extra may be quoted at 6@7 cts—one drove brought 7.40. Shippers are complaining bitterly about prices being to high for the eastern markets, but there seems to be no disposition on the part of holders to help themselves.

The first sale of clipped sheep this season was made this week, 101 head averaging 76 lbs at 5,15 cts per pound. Pearce, of Philadelphia, was the purchaser.

HOGS.

Prime heavy hogs, such as are bought for Philadelphia, are scarce and fully ¼ higher, though the demand is by no means active; 8 cts., seemed to be regarded as the ruling price, though there were some few sales as high as 8,20 and 8,25. York hogs have undergone no change, and may be fairly quoted at 7 cts.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, March 15, 1871.

We have stated repeatedly recently that the stagnation which has characterized the oil business for some months past was not wholly confined to Pittsburgh, and that other refining points were in every respect as badly off as we are. From the Cleveland Review we learn that trade there is almost at a stand, and that not more than one-tenth of the capacity of the refineries there is in use. And in regard to the cause, the same paper says: "It is obvious that this result can easily be traced to the unreasonable and unscrupulous policy of the petroleum producers. No one knew better than they that there was no demand or margin which would warrant refiners in paying the ruling prices for Crude; yet they would not concede in the least, but by a series of "corners" and other gambling arrangements, have run up and held up the price of crude when such a course was neither good policy nor justified by any demand. They know full well that the price of oil, as well as all other commodities, must be regulated by the supply and demand; and that all efforts to establish the contrary, no matter how prodigious or persistent, will ultimately fail, and perhaps, entail serious consequences on their promoters. That the supply is at present, and has been for some time past, greatly in excess of the demand is a fact with which all are familiar. The natural course of the market would, therefore, be to a lowering of prices, and but for the career of the Producers this result would have been obtained long ago. But the Producers have assumed the supernatural in this connection and will probably continue to contend with the natural laws of trade until forced to succumb and admit their folly. This is what they will be compelled to do finally, for they have no earthly show to maintain the present prices of oil, and we dare say they are not likely to derive assistance from any celestial source. In driving the Refiners from the market they have excluded their only dependence—the only class that can sustain them. The Refiners would never quit the market if there were any reasonable inducements to remain in it; they have an interest in the market not less important than that of the Producer, and would sustain it, if by so doing they did not injure themselves. The Producers have overlooked this, disregarded the interests of Refiners, and by their imperious action compelled them to retire. The Refiners time will come shortly, and we may then expect that, be they ever so magnanimous, in their dealings with persons who consider their own interests paramount to everything else, they will be apt to exact something to impress the importance of reason, and discourage unreasonable and unjustifiable action in the future."

CRUDE.

The market continues dull and weak and prices, as compared with yesterday are lower; and even at the reduction there seems to be very little inquiry, as refiners generally are sanguine that there must be a still further decline. The truth is they cannot afford to pay present prices—it is out of the question. We can report a sale of a barge load to be delivered within a day or two, at 10¼; and 1,000 seller until July at 10¾.

REFINED.

Also dull and weak—not a single sale reported. March nominally 23¾; April, 24¾; May, 25; June and July, 25¾; August, 25¾.

The Carrie Brooks from Zanesville, is due to-night.

The elegant side wheeler Alexander Mitchell, Capt. Lon Bryson, is filling up rapidly for the Upper Mississippi. She is annouced to take her departure to-day, and parties going westward should bear this in mind, as she offers superior inducements to passengers.

The Durfee will receipt freight and passengers through to all points on the Upper Mississippi.

The Far West departed last evening with an excellent trip her guards almost dragging water. Pilots—Barney Given, and Lauder Patterson.

Cal. W. Bennett, an accomplished steamboatman has taken charge of the office of the Durfee. He is an old steamboatman but for some years has been boating on the Missouri River.

—The St. Louis Democrat says: The last meeting considered necessary between the representatives of the Northern and Northwestern Packet companies was held yesterday. We can hardly err in saying that the several disputed points have been arranged on a basis for the season, and that nothing remains to mar the requisite harmony—the entente cordiale which should exist between the two distinct, yet united packet lines. A boat of each line will leave on alternate days for the North, throughout the season of navigation.

—The Memphis Avalanche, of Saturday, says: The towboat John A. Wood passed down at noon yesterday, with a fleet containing 500,000 bushels of coal—the largest, it is said, that ever passed down the Mississippi. The Simpson Horner ran her fleet on the middle bar at Island 30, whereby she lost four shell and two fuel boats and one barge, containing above 100,000 bushels of coal. She saved eight boats and one barge of her fleet, and passed on her way down day before yesterday.

—The Louisville Ledger of Monday says: The towboats Wild Cat, John Gilmore and Stella left for Pittsburgh yesterday, with tows of empty barges.

The towboats Greyhound, John Gilmore and James Gilmore arrived from Pittsburgh yesterday with tows of coal. The Clipper brought two barges of Coalburg coal. The towboat Wm. Cowan will take 300,000 bushels of coal to Cairo, for W. H. Brown.

—A late New Orleans paper says: In the Fifth District Court yesterday, judgement was rendered against the steamer Bismarck for goods missing from five cases which were shipped by plaintiff per steamer Bismarck to Little Rock. The goods were reshipped at mouth of White river, but the Court held the Bismarck liable, and she was mulcted in the sum of $23 14.

—A record of the following steamboat sale was filed in the St. Louis Custom house on Saturday: The one-half interest of the steamboat Tom Stevens was sold by Jacob and Lawrence Schirner, of Osage City, Missouri, to M. S. Carter, for the sum of $3,000.

—The Nora, bound down, and the Belle of Texas, bound up Trinity River, both with good trips, passed Cincinnati, Texas, on the 7th inst.

Capt. Richard C. Gray.

Among our most successful steamboatmen, who have done so much to give Pittsburgh a fair fame throughout the western and southern country, it gives us great pleasure to refer to the genial and popular gentleman whose name is at the head of this notice. Captain Gray has been for a long time identified with our river interests, and has been singularly successful, both in the character of his enterprises and in the results of them. As long ago as 1849 we remember him as he walked the deck of the beautiful, staunch "Paul Anderson," on her trial trip on Christmas morning. Since then he has superintended the building of a large number of our first class steamers; all of which, without one single exception, have proved profitable to their owners. About the year 1859, he with others organized the famous Northern Line of packets, to ply between St. Louis and St. Paul, on the upper Mississippi. This line is still in operation, and still has the good fortune to have Captain Dick Gray at the head of it. Among the steamers furnished for this line under his supervision we recall the Pembina, Sucker State, Hawkeye State, Davenport, Muscatine, Minneapolis, Burlington and Red wing. He has probably built as many western steamers as any other man, and we believe all of them continued in active service until old age caused them to be dismantled; the machinery in most instances was transferred to new hulls. Not one accident from imperfect machinery or work of any kind has occurred to them, which speaks volumes in his favor as a skilful and careful builder. May he long live to enjoy the fruits of his labors, and we would wish to add his children after him; but unfortunately we cannot for Captain Dick is a bachelor.

Last evening about five o'clock an alarm of fire was struck from box 24, corner of Federal street and North alley, Allegheny. It was occasioned by a slight fire in the chimney of Clendenning Harness Manufactory, one door below the alley and next to Semple's new building. No water was thrown by the engines, and the damage was immaterial.

The Funeral of the late lamented W. N. Morgan, Esq., cashier of the City Bank on Fifth avenue, will take place this afternoon at two o'clock, from the residence of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Bryan, No. 20 Cedar avenue, Allegheny. The death of Mr. Morgan has caused much genuine sorrow in this community, wherein he was so universally known and so highly esteemed.

That pile of dirt still lingers, unseen by the Street Commissioner, on Corry street, near Lacock, Allegheny. We hope he will not remove it, as it affords a fine opportunity for the boys to play "I'm the king of the castle and your're the rogues of the rascal." "Commissioner spare that pile, touch not a single lump, the youth there, hours beguile and folks there, ashes dump. Next."

A Runaway on a small scale, wherein nobody was hurt, took place on Tuesday afternoon. A horse ran away with a buggy, and dashing into a post on Grant street near Fifth avenue, made wreck of the buggy, and like Robinson, gave himself up to the authorities. Fired by a noble emulation a mule attached to a coal wagon sought to imitate the nobler quadruped, but the wagon was too heavy and he thought better of it.

Business Activity.—We are glad to note the activity which pervades all business circles in anticipation of a lively Spring trade about to open. In every direction we turn we observe improvements going forward. The painter, glazier, wall paperer, upholster and carpenter are all kept busy, and our city will soon wear its accustomed fresh Spring time appearance about the only season in which we appear to any good advantage.

Free Lecture, Y. M. C. A.—Professor B. C. Jillson, well known to our readers, will deliver a free lecture in the Christian Association rooms, Penn and Sixth streets, this (Thursday) evening. His subject is "The Two Revelations, or the Testimony of the Rocks and the Teachings of the Bible." The lecture will be illustrated with maps and drawings. The subject is one the Professor will demonstrate fully, and we promise our readers a pleasant and profitable evening.

Double Charge.—Yesterday afternoon Mrs. John Brown came before Alderman Koenig and made a double charge against her husband, John Brown—one for assault and battery, wherein she alleges that the sa'd John gave her an unmerciful beating, and the other for bigamy. In the latter case she alleges that Brown, nothwithstanding that he was already possessed of one helpmeet, the number allowed by statute, entered into the holy bonds with her. He was arrested and held for a hearing.

Bohemians in Trouble.—Two suits were brought before Alderman Bolster of Allegheny, yesterday, by Frank Novaka against Frank Funfer—one for assault and battery and the other for surety of the peace. In the first he alleges that the defendant knocked him down, and in the other that he had threatened to kill him. The parties reside at Gerty's Run. Warrants were issued in both cases.

Cross Suits.—An information was made before Alderman Taylor yesterday by Bernard McKennan, charging Peter Golden with assault and battery. The complainant alleges that he was knocked down and kicked by the accused.

Golden, the defendant. was arrested and made oath against McKennan for perjury and stated that he had never seen him. Both parties were held for a hearing on Saturday Alleged Fraudulent Check.—Joseph H. Borland, made oath before Alderman McMasters yesterday, charging F. J. Kremple with obtaining goods under false pretences. He alleges that the defendant came to his place and bought a pair of boots valued at $10, in payment for which he gave a check on the Allegheny National Bank, which on presentation was pronounced worthless, the accused having no funds at the institution. A warrant was issued.

Double Trouble.—Yesterday Ad. Batchelor was before acting Mayor Irwin of Allegheny, on two charges. In the first Wm. Tephford charged him with stealing from a saloon in Allegheny Diamond a set of billiard balls valued at $20 and selling them for $3. He was held in $500 bail for trial.

Then Leopold Bechtold complained that Batchelor had assaulted and threatened to cut him open with a knife. The bail in this case was fixed at $300, and Batchelor is in jail.

Aggravated Assault and Battery.—George Sorg and James Phillips are fellow-workmen at the coke ovens of Mr. Moul, in the Eighth ward, Allegheny, and, some difficulty arising between them, Phillips picked up a clinker, as is alleged, and struck Sorg over the head, cutting a fearful gash. The result was an information before Alderman Bolster, of Allegheny, by Sorg, charging Phillips with aggravated assault and battery. The accused was arrested, and gave bail in $800 for a hearing on Friday.

Elsewhere, an advertisement will be found of an Exhibitor of Chinese curiosities to be given, with a descriptive lecture, this evening in the 4th, U. P. church, Allegheny, by Rev. J. C. Nevin, Missionary at Canton, on a visit to this country. Mr. N. has lived in China about eleven years has given the institutions and customs of that land thorough study, and is able to discuss the subject in an interesting manner. The collection of curiosities, which he has brought with him; has been pronounced the most complete ever exhibited in this city. A large audience should be present.

Second Avenue Park.—The residents of Second Avenue Park, in the city, between Ross and Grant streets, have determined on beautifying the place and making it as attractive as possible. Yesterday Mr. Elliott, the landscape gardener commenced the work. The square is to be sodded and serpentined with walks, and will contain three fountains, each fifty-two feet in circumference. New and healthy shade tree are to be planted both in the park and on the sidewalks. When completed in accordance with the plans arranged, the little green spot will prove quite an attraction and an ornament to that part of the city.

Malicious Mischief.—A suit for malicious mischief was brought before Alderman Morrow yesterday, by William Woods against Albert Warren. The prosecuter alleges that the defendant threw filth and rubbish into the kitchen of house, No. 33 Strawberry alley occupied by defendant, whereby it was damaged to the extent of $50. The accused was arrested and held for a further hearing.

CROSS SUIT.—Albert Warren. defendant in the above suit, then entered a complaint against Francis Flood, one of Wood's witnesses, for perjury, alleging that the evidence given by him had been false in every particular. Warrant issued.

Policemen in Trouble.—Alderman Shore, yesterday entertained the complaint of James Todd, againt H. F. Railing, Thomas Keefer, Conrad Shaffer, John Kendal, and another whose name he was unable to learn, policemen whom he charges with aggravated assault and battery. He alleges that the defendants in arresting wantonly and unnecessarily beat him with their maces, thereby inflecting severe and painful injuries upon his person. Warrants were issued for the arrest of the accused.

RETALIATORY.—Thomas Keefer, one of the defendants in the above case, entered a cross suit before the same Alderman against Thomas Todd, prosecutor in the foregoing suit, for violent assault and battery, alleging that while being arrested he kicked and struck and in other ways resisted arrest. A warrant was issued.

Solomon in all his glory has the reputation of having been the best dressed man, not only of his own time but of all ages. Louis the Fourteenth, two centuries ago, set the fashions for the civilized world. Beau Brummel was "the glass of fashion and the mould of form," and was so pre-eminent in the gay world as to be able with impunity to snub a king who considered himself the first gentleman in Europe. But any one, or indeed all of these men, would look like guys if they were to walk down Fifth avenue among a crowd of men whose clothes were made at McPherson's, at No. 10—late St. Clair—street. There they make everything in the latest and most becoming styles, and there they are now receiving one of the choicest and best selected assortments of cloths for spring and summer wear that has ever been brought to the city. These cloths will ere long have been chosen out by our citizens of taste, cut by Muhlenbring the artist, and made up on the most substantial way into clothing, which would astonish the worthies mentioned above, and delight any modern man who may be happy enough to own them.

Another Dealer Arrested.

Yesterday District Attorney Swoope received information that another dealer in counterfeit money had been arrested in Luzerne county, which is a part of his district The accused is one Lawrence Rauch, who it is alleged had passed two $20 bills, the denomination of the Onieda National Bank, Ithaca New York, upon two different persons. He was arrested by Marshal De Lacy and committed for trial at Williamsport.

Music Hath Charms.

Squire McMasters has been putting a piano into his office, probably as a hint that he is the organ of the law. This is kind of the Squire. He can now temper the severity of his sweetness by the dulcet strains of music. After sending an ol d offender to the Work house, he can soothe his departure by playing "Home again, home again," for him. In cases of pocket-picking we would recommend the air "Still so gently o'er me stealing." To responses for mercy he could appropriately play "Shoo fly, don't bodder me." In cases of vagrancy the air would doubtless be "Tramp, tramp." "Casta Diva" would seldom be called for, but the "Rogue's March" would probably be a favorite air, and "Wait for the wagon" would be rapturously encored when the prison van was at the door.

Adams Express Company in Allegheny.

Our enterprising merchants across the river have been endeavoring to have the Express Company open up an office in Allegheny. The large business done there is certainly entitled to better facilities than the Company has so far shown any disposition to give it. As it is now, all business must be executed at the main office in Pittsburgh, and this burden should not longer be imposed. The Allegheny merchants justly claim that their transactions are of sufficient extent to require an office nearer to their places of business. We think if the Express Company can afford to establish agencies in almost every small town throughout the country, they should not ignore so important a business point as Allegheny, and its proximity to Pittsburgh should not prevent its business men obtaining every facility for the transactions of their affairs.

Called on to Explain.

Robert McKelvy is addicted to the use of the fragrant weed first introduced to the notice of the Caucasian race by the gallant Raleigh, and not being always in possession of the wherewithal to gratify his habit, he went to the cigar store of F. Schmidt, a tobacconist of the Tenth ward, in August last, as was alleged by that gentleman in an information before Alderman Loenig for false pretences, and obtained Havanas and Gravely, or Fine Cut, perhaps, to the amount of $9.35, by representing that he was the owner of the house No. 653 Penn avenue, then in the course of construction, but which on investigation proved to be the property of his father. An invitation to attend a levee at the Alderman's office was placed in the hands of one of those indispensable members of civilized society, yclept constables, when he will have an opportunity of explaining his conduct.

The Forthcoming Concert.

EDITORS GAZETTE: I am happy to say that the English concert which I am to give at Library Hall on the 23d inst., for the relief of misery in France, meets with the cordial approval of my fellow-citizens and promises to be a success. Indeed, as a Frenchman, I am touched with the encouragement tendered me from all parts, the Germans themselves being foremost in the generous offer of their services. Pittsburgh. I hope, will not be behind her sister cities of the East and West in her assistance to my poor countrymen. In the name of humanity, to whose pangs or joys none of us can remain indifferent, I adjure once more our wealthy community to contribute its mite to the alleviation of human suffering. I do beseech all good hearts to listen to the voice of compassion, and to answer to the earnestness of my appeal by the liberality of their donations.

CLEMENT TETEDOUX, 28 Fifth street.

A Witness Comes to Grief.

Yesterday afternoon, a witness in the Criminal Court came to grief. He was called up in a case wherein two boys were charged with stealing a pair of boots from the store of Mr. John Snodgrass, on Smithfield street. He appeared under the name of Joseph Watson, and testified that he had observed the boys buying the boots, instead of stealing them. He seems to have been mistaken in that, however, as the jury returned a verdict against the boys.

While he was on the stand Mr. Snodgrass recollected that he had seen the countenance somewhere, and upon taxing his memory, remembered that Watson had been in his store the day previous to the stealing of the boots, and had then been detected in an attempt to rob the till. Mr. Snodgrass immediately called the attention of the Court to the matter, and being positive in his identification of the man, the Court ordered Watson to be held. His accuser went before Mayor Brush and made an information against him for attempted larceny, upon which be was arrested and committed for trial.

Pittsburgh M. E. Conference.

The annual session of this body commenced yesterday morning at Steubenville, Ohio, Bishop Clarke presiding. This is one of the largest and most influential of the seventy Conferences, numbering between two and three hundred ministers. Quite a number of visiting ministers and prominent laymen attend these annual sessions, the latter frequently to look after the appointment of new pastors. For several years a daily paper has been issued during the session usually under the direction of ministers connected with the body. This year a daily will be issued. Several of the prominent churches in this city and neighborhood will receive new ministers, their time having expired according to the rules of the Church. Among the number we name, Pennsylvania avenue, Wesley Chapel, East Liberty, of this city; Union Church in Allegheny City, and Wilkinsburgh Church.

Methodism is pretty strong in Steubenville, the two or three churches having a good many members, many of them wealthy and influential. The conference will be handsomely entertained, judging from the extensive preparations that have been made. We hope to report some of the proceedings.

Stockholder's Annual Meeting—Report of the Year's Work—Election of Directors.

The stockholders and bond-holders of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway was held yesterday at the office of the company, in this city, William Heard, Esq., presiding, and F. M. Hutchinson, Esq., officiating as Secretary.

The Secretary read the annual report of the President, G. W. Cass, which is as follows:

THE PRESIDENT'S ANNUAL REPORT.

To the Stockholders and Bondholders of the P. Ft. W. and C. Ry. Co.—Your Board of Directors, in submitting this, their first report after your road and property has been a full calendar year in the charge of the lessee, is gratified at being able to give you the assurance of a satisfactory management of your property. The roadway. track and bridges are in good condition. The

BRIDGE OVER THE BEAVER RIVER

(single track) has been completed. and the double track has been finished and brought into use to the summit of Beaver Hill—a distance of thirty-seven miles from Pittsburgh—making the whole length of the double track forty-three miles.

THE ROLLING STOCK

of all kinds has been kept in good repair, without, however. any increase in quantity. The new passenger coaches, built to replace those which were no longer serviceable, are of a better standard of excellence than we have heretofore had. Many of the station buildings, both passenger and freight, need repair, and some need rebuilding, and at other points buildings are required where none have ever been erected.

It is the expressed purpose of the lessee to do all that is now needed in the way of buildings, excepting at Chicago. The hope is still entertained that several of the railway companies whose roads terminate at Chicago will unite in erecting a passenger station for common use.

Within the year the lessee has obtained by lease

THE ERIE AND PITTSBURGH RAILROAD, from New Castle to Erie, which insures the traffic between Pittsburgh and Erie to use a portion of your road.

THE MASSILLON AND CLEVELAND RAILROAD, in which your company is a shareholder, has been completed and brought into use, being worked by the Cleveland, Mt. Vernon and Delaware railroad company. The has also been completed to Paris, two hundred miles north of Fort Wayne, during the year, and is equipped to a capacity to earn eight hundred thousand dollars this year. The road is worked by the organization which manages for the lessee the P. Ft. W. & C. railway. the whole being under the general supervision and control of J. N. McCullough, Esq. Economy in management and entire harmony between the main line and this important auxiliary is by this arrangement assured. The advantages to be derived by your road on the completion of the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad, which were anticipated when you decided to promote the building of it, are already in part realized. The lessee reports the result of the year's business as follows:

MAIN LINE.

Gross earnings		$7,782,623 13

THE INCOME FROM THE PASSENGER

and freight traffic fell off $189,489 48 last year, while a large diminution in the cost of working the road made the net result more favorable to the lessee than was the business of the previous year to your company. The increase of local tonnage for the year was 85,074 tons, while the foreign tonnage decreased 4,800 tons. The number of local passengers increased 147,054, while the number of foreign passengers decreased 16,016. The two facts explain in part the and confirm the statement in our last report, that the lessee had diminished the through business on your road by causing the whole of the west and southwest business to be thrown over their lines passing through Columbus, Ohio. The lessee being the owner of the profits of traffic by both lines, it is perhaps a wise economy to thus manage the traffic within reasonable limits.

THE CLOSING UP OF THE BUSINESS

of this company since its organization to the date of the level of its railway and property, involves more time than was anticipated by your board at the date of the lease. All the nonlitigated business has been practically closed, but that in litigation has been but slightly diminished during the year, owing to the laws delay and the instituting of new suits, some of them touching the relations of this company to the old corporation.

THE NUMBER OF SUITS

now pending in the counties in which the road lies in the four several states in which this corporation has legal existence is eighty-five, involving by the declaration of the parties over $150,000 in money. In not a single case does the company acknowledge any liability; but that the company may yet be required to pay large sums of money is possible; and indeed it is quite improbable that the company can escape adverse judgment in all the numerous suits pending.

THE PAYMENTS

to this date have been very largely in excess of what was anticipated at the time the lease was executed. In taxes alone—federal, state and municipal—it has amounted to about $260,000, arising partly from a misapprehension as to the extent of taxes attached to the property at the date of the lease, and partly from taxes demanded by the federal government and the state of Pennsylvania that were believed to have been adjusted and settled. The assets, at their par value, now on hands to meet the obligations which may arise under the conditions just stated, is about $390,000.

In view of the manifest uncertainity of the extent of the demands which may be enforced against the company and the inability of your board to do more than to resort to the extent of the law, it is believed to be the duty of the board for the present to make to the stockholders. Even were there no known unadjusted and undischarged obligations of the company, your board are of the opinion that there ought to be reserved for some years at least $100,000 as a contingent fund, to meet any unexpected liability that might arise, and thus avoid a contingency of infringing on the dividend fund.

GEORGE W. CASS, President.

PITTSBURGH, March 15, 1871.

On motion, the report was received and ordered to be printed.

ELECTION OF DIRECTORS.

The stockholders then proceeded to an election for three directors of the company, to serve in the place of those whose term of office had expired by law. The election resulted in the choice of the following gentlemen as directors:

Hon. John Sherman, Ohio.
Kent Jarvis, Ohio.
Thos. A. Scott, Pennsylvania.

The meeting then adjourned.

Alderman Strain.

(It will be remembered that the accused some days ago fired into a crowd of which the prosecutor was one, and wounded a man named McKee, for which he was suspended by the Mayor.) Warrant issued.

An information was lodged by Wm. Hanson before the same Alderman against Phillip Ochse for assault and battery. The parties rent a stable together and some dispute arising Ochse knocked the complainant down and otherwise maltreated him. Held for a hearing.

Catherine Sullivan and Bridget Early got into a dispute over some chickens, and in the heat of it Bridget was very free in applying foul epithets to Catherine, for which the latter went before Alderman Strain and preferred a charge of disorderly conduct against Bridget. A warrant was issued for her arrest.

"THE ENTERPRISE."

A Boys' Institution.

Few of our readers who saw the little sheet with the above modest title a week or two ago imagined, we guess, that it was the handiwork of two boys, aged respectively 13 and 15 years. What would our grandfathers have thought of us of the more advanced generation had any such idea found a lodgment in our young minds? Laugh! They would have fairly split their sides and bidden us "hold our tongues and not talk so foolishly." But nothing is strange now-a-days; everything is taken as a matter of course, and just so, we must look upon this successful undertaking of our two boy friends. We say successful and we mean it, for this little sheet shows at once skill and study. We do not find a single error of composition, of punctuation, or of ruling, and this is more than can be said of most of its contemporaries. Our two young friends, Fred L. and Harry L. Holmes, sons of Mr. Frederick B. Holmes, the popular cashier of the Enterprise Savings Bank, of the Fifth Ward, Allegheny, are the publishers, printers, pressmen, editors, reporters, and in fact combine in themselves the entire labor and brains of this latest contemporary. They have adopted as their trade the "Art Preservative," and in this they are at once examples and patterns to their young friends everywhere. Every boy who has the ability or the taste should learn a trade. We can give them no better advice than this. In addition to the above publication Messrs. Holmes Brothers are prepared to execute job work of all kinds in the neatest and best styles. We have seen samples of bill heads, etc., printed by them, which would be creditable to any job office in this or any other city. Persons wishing printing done, cards, posters, bill or letter heads, etc., will please give them a call, and whilst thus assisting them in their business, they at the same time will give encouragement to two worthy young men who are deserving of more than a passing notice. Orders can be left at their office, No. 68 Bidwell street, or with their father, at the Enterprise Savings Bank, corner of Beaver and Ohio avenues, Allegheny. Give them a call and we warrant they will give you satisfaction. Success to them.

To the Public.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF HEALTH, 164 Fourth avenue, Mar. 11, 1871.

As our city is liable a visitation of that terrible disease, small pox, (it being now very prevalent in some of the Eastern cities), we would urge upon our citizens the importance of immediate vaccination. The Physician of the Board of Health will be in attendance at the office of the Board, No. 164 Fourth avenue, on Monday of each week, from 2 to 3 P. M., for the purpose of gratuitous vaccination, and all persons are urged to avail themselves of the opportunity.

By order of the Board of Health.

ANOTHER UNFORTUNATE.

How $600 Disappeared—A Buckeye Drover Taken in—A Trick that was Vain—But Highly Successful.

An unbounded confidence in human nature however commendable it may be is not always rewarded as it should be. Sometimes the unfortunate possessor of this confiding disposition passes through an experience which has the direct tendency ever afterwards to drive him to the opposite extreme. Possibly Mr. John Marshall, who had a little adventure of this character yesterday, will be able to understand this matter now better than he ever did heretofore.

Mr. Marshall is from Hanover, Columbiana county, Ohio. He is an aged gentleman and engaged as a stock dealer. A few days ago he came to Allegheny with a cargo of swine, which he disposed of, and yesterday had the money, $600, in his pocket when he started for the depot to take the train for home. At the Federal street station he was sauntering about waiting for the train and congratulating himself on the success of his trip, when a gentlemanly stranger approached and then began the old game. The stranger, Mr. Morgan, was neat in dress and affable in conversation. Moreover he was intimately accquainted with Mr. Marshall's friends in Hanover and altogether was exceedingly agreeable. The twain started out for a drink, when Mr. Morgan was interviewed by another stranger, who desired $600 to "close that bargain." Mr. Morgan had'nt the cash, but was a walking depository of U. S. Bonds. The display so overcame Mr. Marshall that he, with small solicitation, loaned the amount "just for a short time," while Morgan and his friend went to the bank to get one of the bonds cashed—Marshall in the meantime being kindly requested by the affectionate Morgan to go to the depot and take charge of his (Morgan's) wife and child until he returned.

Marshall returned to the depot, but of all the females and children there, could find none answering to the name of Morgan. He meandered about for an hour until the two o'clock train started, and then concluded to tell his story to the Mayor. But Morgan has not been found, and Mr. Marshall takes less stock in "gentlemanly talkers."

JUMPED FROM A WINDOW.

A Man Seriously Injured—He Indulges in a Spree—And the Result of It.

The result of an over indulgence in liquor, was of a very serious character, to Mr. Edward Juggers one of the drivers of the Pleasant Valley Railway, Tuesday night. He had been off duty during the day and had been drinking pretty freely, but upon coming around in the evening about six o'clock was somewhat sobered. Then some friend, of that class who are always ready with bad news, told him he was discharged from the service of the company, which intelligence had such a discouraging influence that he immediately returned to his cups and before two hours, was as completely drugged with liquor as it it was possible for him to be. In this condition he somehow managed to reach his boarding house, the residence of Mr. Finley, in Pleasant Valley. Retiring to his room in the second story, about nine o'clock, he remained quiet for about an hour when the inmates of the house were alarmed by hearing a crashing noise followed by a dull thud as if a body falling. Upon investigating they discovered Juggers lying on the street in front of the house, bleeding and senseless. He had either jumped or fallen through the window, to the ground, a distance of about twelve feet.

Dr. Boggs was immediately summoned, and upon examination pronounced him suffering from concussion of the brain. He was taken into the house and properly treated. All day yesterday he lay speechless, and at night, the case having been reported to Mr. R. H. Davis, Poor Director, by his order the man was removed to Passavant's Hospital. He had recovered somewhat last night, but fears are entertained that his injuries are fatal.

CHILD RUN OVER.

Playing in the Street—Knocked Down and Skull Fractured.

Yesterday afternoon about three o'clock considerable excitement was created on Franklin street, 6th ward Allegheny by a serious accident to a little child and which may yet result fatally. The victim was a little boy aged about fifteen months, son of Mr. Henry Sowers. It had been brought out to the sidewalk in front of the house by its mother and while she was engaged a moment conversing with a neighbor found its way into the middle of the street. Just then Mr. Oswald Henzle, driver for Lutz & Waltz, came along in his empty brewer wagon. His attention was attracted by another child on the other side and he failed to observe little Sowers, who was knocked down and run over before his mother could prevent it. Upon being picked up and medical assistance obtained, it was found that the child's skull was fractured just above the left eye. Everything possible was done to relieve its sufferings, and last night it was still living, though in a precarious condition.

Later in the evening the father came to the Mayor's office and lodged an information against Henzle for reckless driving, upon which he was arrested and held for a hearing. He claims that the accident was unavoidable, and judging from the circumstances of the case this seems to be the truth.

Amusements.

PITTSBURGH OPERA HOUSE.—The popularity of "Little Em'ly" continues unabated, and Mr. Robson is winning fresh laurels by the masterly manner in which he renders Micawber. All the characters, indeed, are rendered faithfully and with ability. The play will be repeated to-night.

OPERA HOUSE.—A good and appreciative audience assembled at this house last night, and the performances were most admirable. Offenbach's great Burlesque of the Grande Duchesse with Miss Sophie Worrell, in the title role will be presented to-night.

TRIMBLES' VARIETIES.—An entirely new bill will be presented to the patrons of this house to-night, in which all the great stars, including Americus, the musical prodigy, and D'Jalma the Man Serpent, will appear. The entertainment will conclude with the "Irish Tutor," with Sam Ryan as Dr. O'Toole.

GIFT LECTURE.—When we use the term of "Gift Lecture" in this particular case we do not wish to imply any thing pertaining to the humbug order. We simply mean that one of the most concise of talkers, most correct thinkers and cleverest of elocutionists in this broad land, Mr. J. H. Littleton, is to hold forth at Library Hall on the evening of the 21st inst. He has lectured in all our principal cities and his fame as a reader and lecturer rivals that of Gough. Littleton the poet, painter and historian, the friend of the late Abraham Lincoln, handles his subject, the recollections of that great martyr, in a pleasing manner and has everywhere been received with enthusiasm. The Lecturer paints well and talks better. He writes fluently and with an accuracy that warrants him in taking his place among our leading authors of the age. Having been for years the private and confidant secretary of the late lamented President Lincoln, he above all others. is competent to portray the idol of us all, in fresh, original and glowing colors. But attached to the lecture there is to be an inducement extraordinary. Each purchaser of a seventy-five cent ticket is to be awarded free, a five dollar engraving—at least one which could not be purchased for less than this sum at the print shops. The scheme simply means that $4 25, and a ticket are presented to each of the people who attend the lecture for seventy-five cents. None under such circumstances will hesitate to attend. The gift lecturer and artist has also for sale his original and famous portrait of Lincoln, superior to Marshall's; a fine line steel engraving, and regarded as the best extant. We have closely examined his premium pictures, and unhesitatingly pronounce them the finest works of art we know in that particular line. We shall have more to say about the lecture, the lecturer and artist hereafter. In the meanwhile we advise our friends to buy a ticket for the forthcoming occasion, and thus secure an engraving worth nearly ten times their investment. We should add that a portion of the proceeds of the lecture is to be presented to the Young Mens Mercantile Library and Mechanics' Institute, and this fact of itself should crowd the Hall.

An Extended Popularity.—"Brown's Bronchial Troches" have been before the public many years. Each year finds them in new localities in various parts of the world. The Troches are pronounced universally superior to all other articles used for similar purposes. For relieving Coughs, Colds, and Throat Diseases, the Troches have been proved reliable.

A French Printing Establishment.

Before the war, M. Paul Dupont, the great Paris printer, carried on a business of 5,000,000 francs a year. He divided ten per cent. of the net profits among his workmen, according to their individual merit, and not in regular proportion to their different salaries. This house, says Mr. Thurlow's recent report. has followed this course for twenty years, and claims the first place in the application of one of the happiest and most successful ideas of modern times. Each new hand, on admission, receives a silver medal worth five francs as a badge of office and link between him and his employer. This establishment has its sick and provident funds of all the usual kinds, its loans of honor to its workmen, its Caisses de Retraite, its savings banks, its schools, libraries, reading and singing rooms, its co-operative stores, its, familisteries, gardens, baths, in short, every invention of modern days for promoting health, wealth, happiness and religion. To use the words of M. Dupont himself, "It is more than a workshop: it is a family, composed of a thousand persons!"

NEVADA STAGE ROBBERY.

Recovery of Money—Arrest of Two Robbers.

About four o'clock this morning, the first of the incoming passenger coaches from Reno was stopped by highwaymen on the Geiger Grade, some five miles north of Virginia, and the treasure boxes captured. This episode occurred at a point half a mile this side of the White House, and a hundred yards or so this side of the noted "Robber's Bend," where the great stage robbery of four or five years ago took place. Mr. P. Deidesheimer, who was one of the passengers, and sat on the seat with the driver, Billy Hodge, tells us that the highwaymen were three in number—at least, he saw no more—and they suddenly made their appearance from the roadside, ordering the driver to stop. They were masked and armed with shot guns. Two of them came up on either side of the coach, presenting their guns respectively at the driver and himself, while the other stopped the horses till his companions had things secured, when he came to their assistance. The first order was, "throw down that box." The driver complied by tossing down one of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s treasure boxes from the boot. The spokesman immediately said: "Throw down that other box!" "Oh nonsense," says Billy, "you don't want that; that's no use to you." "Throw it down!" demanded the highwayman, with an unmistakable movement of his shotgun. Down came the box in a hurry, and with a parting admonition to "drive off d—d quick!" Billy Hodge whipped up his horses and made the quickest trip into Virginia ever known of before—just twenty-eight minutes. Immediately as the stage left, the robbers took the boxes to the roadside, and with a pick and sledge they found near by, where some workmen were engaged in repairing the road the day before, they broke open the boxes, seized the money packages and whatever else they thought worth taking, and made off. Some fast freight wagons were coming up the grade only a couple of hundred yards or so behind, followed by the other stages and some private carriages, therefore the highwaymen had to hasten matters as fast as possible, the whole affair occupying only about five minutes. Gen. John B. Winters and two or three other passengers were inside the coach, but the robbers had no time to molest passengers. Deidesheimer says the most he was afraid of when he saw those big-muzzled shotguns, pointed at him from each side, was that the rascals might take him for an express guard or messenger, or that the guns might accidentally go off themselves. He never felt less like fighting in his life. As soon as Billy Hodge could drive into town he notified the police, and also C. C. Pendergast, Wells, Fargo & Co's agent at Virginia. The most active measures were at once taken to capture the robbers if possible. Chief Downey sent officers Merrow and Potter to a certain point in the mountains, a mile or two from the city, where the robbers would be likely to pass if they came in that direction, while Downey himself, with Detective Ben Lackey and officer McCready, went round in another direction toward the scene of the robbery. It so happened that the first two officers mentioned had just arrived at the point designated for them when they perceived a man coming. He saw them, but too late, and had to surrender unconditionally, after attempting to hide his shotgun by shoving it into the snow, where it was afterward found. He proved to be one of the robbers, and is now safe in the county jail. His name is Johnson alias Roland, alias Lyden, etc., and is the same man that was arrested not long ago on suspicion of robbing the safe of Dr. Connell's drug store in Virginia. In his pockets were found $531 50 in coin, and $251 75 in greenbacks, all of which was identified by the packages and other proofs as belonging to Wells, Fargo & Co., as in the box at the time of the robbery. This was all the money recovered. How much more is missing can only be ascertained when the way bill comes in. It is thought however, that less than $20 is missing. The broken treasure boxes were found this morning within a few yards of where the robbery occurred, the papers and documents contained within them being scattered loosely about having been thoroughly ransacked for valuables. Everything was gathered up and brought to the Virginia office. Our energetic police still continued their pursuit and a little before noon to-day Lackey arrested a man named Dean, recently a bar keeper in the Delta saloon, Virginia. He was in bed at his room in the city, but the proofs against him are very conclusive that he was one of the robbers. Chief Downey informed us that he felt pretty sure he would capture the third robber before night. Much and most unqualified credit is due to the police, as well as to Mr. Pendergast, for their prompt and energetic efforts in this affair. They certainly displayed admirable sagacity also, and the result is particularly discouraging to any enterprising brigands who may desire to engage in future stage robbing operations in the Geiger Grade.—Gold Hill News, March 4th.

ON THE VERGE OF THE GRAVE.

A Family Narrowly Escape Suffocation from Carbonic Acid Gas.

[From the Kansas City Bulletin, March 9.]

West Kansas city was rife with the rumor of a fatal accident yesterday morning, but after considerable trouble our reporter traced the rumors to their original source, which was at a little cabin near the mouth of Turkey Creek, occupied by a German coalheaver named Hendrick Hondershilt, together with his wife and two children. From what we could learn from close interrogation by our reporter, the man left home on Monday evening with the intention of working in the coal yards until late at night, promising to return about midnight. The careful "frau," after her husband departed, carefully closed and barred the door against outside intrusion, and making a fresh coal fire, then sat down to work, while the children played carelessly and happily at her side. The evening being rather warm, and the ventilation of the room being closed, Mrs. Hondershilt soon felt the effects of the glowing fire, and ere long sought relief for her drowsy eyelids by retiring to bed. The room they were in serves the family for kitchen, parlor and bedroom. Hence the wife had no occasion to leave the warm and then almost suffocating apartment.

Before retiring, the woman, with an eye to economy and her absent husband's comfort, took the precaution to close the damper of the little cracked stove, and hung a quilt over the only window the room possessed, thus sealing herself and little family in a living tomb. Fortunately, by some strange dispensation of Providence, a pre-admonition or some other unaccountable reason, Hendrick failed to go to the yard and returned home earlier than usual. When he reached home he tried every means to make himself heard, but without avail. As a last resort he broke open the door and entered the room. Receiving no response to his call, he shook his wife, and found her insensible from the effects of the poisonous gases filling the apartment. He lost no time in summoning assistance, and soon had the satisfaction of seeing his beloved family recover from their deathlike sleep. Had he not returned home until the hour he had originally intended, he would have returned too late to save his beloved family. This is the first case of the kind we have had occasion to record, and trust it will be a warning against sleeping in hermetically sealed apartments, leaving a smothered fire to smother the inmates.

FINANCIAL.

NEW 7-30 GOLD LOAN OF THE Northern Pacific RAILROAD CO. SECURED BY First Mortgage on Railroad and Land Grant.

SAFE! PROFITABLE! PERMANENT!

JAY COOKE & CO.

Offer for sale at par and accrued interest the First Mortgage Land Grant Gold Bonds of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company. They are free from United States Tax, and are issued of the following denominations: Coupons $100, $500, and $1,000; Registered $100, $500, $1,000 $5,000 and $10,000.

With the same entire confidence with which we commended Government bonds to Capitalists and People, we now, after the fullest investigation recommend these Northern Pacific Railroad bonds to our friends and the general public.

GOLD PAYMENT—Both principal and interest are payable in American gold coin, at the office of Jay Cooke & Co., New York City—the principal at the end of 30 years, and the interest (at the rate of seven and three-tenths per cent. per annum) half-yearly, first of January and July.

PERFECT SAFETY.—The bonds we are now selling are secured by a first and only mortgage on all the property and rights of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, which will embrace on the completion of the work:

1. Over Two Thousand Miles of Road, with rolling stock, buildings, and all other equipments.

2. Over Twenty-two Thousand Acres of Land to every mile of finished road. This land, agricultural, timbered and mineral, amounting in all to more than Fifty Million Acres, consists of alternate sections, reaching twenty to forty miles on each side of the track, and extending in a broad fertile belt from Wisconsin through the richest portions of Minnesota, Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Oregon and Washington, to Puget Sound.

While the Government does not directly guarantee the bonds of the Road, it thus amply provides for their full and prompt payment by an unreserved grant of land, the most valuable ever conferred upon the great national improvement.

THE MORTGAGE.—The Trustees under the Mortgage are Messrs. Jay Cooke, of Philadelphia and J. Edgar Thomson, President of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad Company. They will directly and permanently represent the interests of the First Mortgage bond holders, and are required to see that the proceeds of land sales are used in purchasing and cancelling the bonds of the Company if they can be bought before maturity at not more than 10 per cent. premium; otherwise the Trustees are to invest the proceeds of land sales in United States Bonds or Real Estate Mortgages for the further security of Northern Pacific bondholders. Also, that they have at all times in their control, as security, 500 acres of average land to every $1,000 of outstanding first mortgage bonds besides the railroad itself and all its equipments and franchises.

PROFITABLENESS.—Of course nothing can be safer than the bonds of the United States, but as the Government is no longer a borrower, and as the Nation's present work is not that of preserving its existence, but that of DEVELOPING A CONTINENT, we remind those who desire to increase their income and obtain a more permanent investment, while still having a perfectly reliable security that

United States 5-20's at their average premium yield the present purchaser less than 5½ per cent. gold interest. Should they be redeemed in five years, and specie payments be resumed, they would really pay only 4½ per cent., or if in three years only 3½ per cent., as the present premium would meanwhile be sunk.

Northern Pacific 7-30's selling at par in currency yield the investor 7 3-10 per cent. gold interest absolutely for thirty years, free from United States tax. $1,100 currency invested now in United States 5-20's will yield per year in gold, say $62.00. $1,100 currency invested now in Northern Pacific 7-30's will yield per year in gold, $80.30. Here is a difference in annual income of nearly one-third, besides a difference of 7 to 10 per cent. in principal, when both classes of bonds are redeemed.

THE ROAD NOW BUILDING.—Work was begun in July last on the eastern portion of the line, and the money provided, by the sale to stockholders of some six millions of the Company's bonds, to build and equip the road from Lake Superior across Minnesota to the Red River of the North—233 miles. The grading on this division is now well advanced, the iron is being rapidly laid; several thousand men are at work on the line, and about the first of August next this important section of the road will be in full operation. In the meantime orders have been sent to the Pacific coast for the commencement of the work on the western end in early Spring, and thereafter the work will be pushed, both eastward and westward, with as much speed as may be consistent with solidity and a wise economy.

RECEIVABLE FOR LANDS.—These bonds will be at all times, before maturity, receivable, at 1-10, in payment for the Company's lands, at their lowest cash price.

BONDS EXCHANGEABLE.—The registered bonds can be exchanged at any time for coupons, the coupons for registered, and both these can be exchanged for others, payable, principle and interest, at any of the various financial centres of Europe, in the coin of the various European countries.

HOW TO GET THEM.—Your nearest Bank or Banker will supply these bonds in any desired amount, and of any needed denomination. Persons wishing to exchange stocks or other bonds for these, can do so with any of our agents, who will allow the highest current price for all marketable securities.

Those living in localities remote from banks, may send money, or other bonds, directly to us by express, and we will send back Northern Pacific bonds at our own risk, and without cost to the investor.
